Strike vote taken by city employees

By HENRY CANTIN

Romulus city employees, members of Local 214 of the Teamsters, State, County and Municipal Workers, have taken a strike vote, it was disclosed Monday.

The employees met last Thursday at the Holiday Inn, located near the Detroit-Metropolitan airport, with their union representatives and approved the strike vote.

A large majority of the 50 to 60 city employee staff were in favor of striking.

Joseph Valenti, president of Local 214, stated Monday the city is not striking against the City of Romulus "because we want more money than the federal pay board will allow."

He reported the strike, if and when it is put into effect, will be for a continuance of the old benefits the employees gained under a previous employment contract in addition to what the pay board will allow under the new wage proposals.

The deadline for city officials to respond to the union proposal was set for tomorrow (Thursday).

Valenti also disclosed the local is planning to file unfair labor charges against the city with the State Labor Board.

The union has been conducting contract negotiations - when city officials have been available - since last July. Numerous discussions were held without a contract settlement.

Both sides submitted to mediation and later to fact finding.

Valenti, who reported the city has never claimed "inability to pay," disclosed that the fact finder, Leon J. Herman of the Michigan Employment Relations Commission, found that 90 per cent of the union's demands were justified.

City Attorney Peter O'Rourke, Councilmen Brooker R. Edwards and William M. Oakley, City Clerk Leonard L. Folmar, Mayor Hyle J. Carmichael and City Treasurer Albert L. Glinski represented the city at the fact finding sessions.

Valenti and Jack Ford of Local 214, Geraldine Sanders, treasurer, Walter Kusak and Mrs. Mary L. Carter, city employees, represented the union.

Valenti stated the employees are willing to settle the dispute by accepting the 5.5 per cent salary hike (or higher) that maybe allowed by the federal pay board and a resumption of benefits the city wants to eliminate or reduce. The union is seeking a one-year contract.

The fact finder has recommended a continuance of the old benefits employees had acquired, Valenti said.

Under the old contract, the city provided longevity pay, payment of unused sick leave at the time the employee leaves city employment, vacation scheduling and arbitration of grievances.

The city, according to Valenti, wants to eliminate longevity pay and payment of unused sick time as well as reducing vacation scheduling relative to amount of vacation and when and elimination of grievance procedures as detailed in the old contract.

The wage increase offered employees by the city in return ranged from 18 to 70 cents per hour depending on employee classification. Valenti charged the city doesn't want to return to the language of the old contract involving employee benefits.

He said the matter boils down to the fact the employees want to waive the big pay increase to obtain former benefits they had along with the 5.5 per cent pay hike allowed by the pay board.

The city has differed on this union position.

Valenti said the setting of a strike date will be determined at union executive board session next week.

The decision will depend on what the city's response is tomorrow (Thursday).

Gollwitzer defends position on airport

By HENRY CANTIN

Van Buren Township Supervisor G. Elton Gollwitzer Monday defended his opposition and that of the township's Airport Study Committee in battling the proposed $100 million expansion of the Willow Run Airport.

Plans to expand the airport into the world's largest air cargo airport and relieve to the Detroit-Metropolitan Airport, based at Romulus, were first released by the Wayne County Road Commission, operators of the Romulus airport.

The Van Buren Township Board approved a seven-member citizens Airport Study Committee to investigate and study the effects the proposed airport expansion would have on the township.

The report issued by this committee was submitted several weeks ago to the township board and subsequently the board went on record as opposing the proposed airport expansion.

A member of the study committee, R. Terry Harrison of 473 Ravenna Rd., Belleville, a professional real estate appraiser and broker, last week issued a statement in favor of the proposed expansion and cited in detail his reasons for taking such a stand.

On Monday, Gollwitzer replied:

"While the Airport Study Committee was in the formative stage, the big problem was in finding people to serve on this committee who wanted to see the airport expanded."

"A committee composed entirely of people who were against the airport expansion would be unacceptable."

"In the time permitted to form the committee, Mr.

Harrison was the only person to be found with a pro airport expansion view. This situation would still be the same if we were forming a committee today."

"Obviously this huge transfer of property would be beneficial to an independent appraiser, but the committee did need someone (or preferably two persons) who would take the pro airport expansion position. I still feel indebted to Mr. Harrison for serving."

"The Airport Study Committee offered to publish his minority report, but apparently he preferred to handle it a different way."

"I believe that if people will read his articles carefully and then check with any other member of the committee, they will get the proper impression. Tape recordings are available which will immediately convince anyone who might have any doubts about committee discussions."

Tax billing change announced by Romulus

A change in the billing and collection of Romulus Community School District's 1972 school property taxes has been announced by Romulus City Treasurer Albert L. Glinski.

Beginning this year, Romulus property owners will receive tax statements calling for the payment of 50 per cent of their school tax levy in July and the remainder in December.

The Romulus City Council at its Feb. 1 session, approved a request of the Romulus Board of Education for permission to collect 50 per cent of its school tax during the summer billing.

The City Council's approval included a request to the school board that it conduct a publicity campaign to notify residents of the collection time changes.

The city collects its city taxes in July and the Wayne County tax and school district tax in December.

The new collection change will have 50 per cent of the school tax and the city tax due in July and the Wayne County tax and the balance of the school tax due in December.

Based on last year's tax statements, the tax levies are as follows: Romulus city tax, $12.50 per $1,000 of assessed property valuation, state equalized; $7.17 county tax, and $31.18 school tax or a total of $50.85 per $1,000 of assessed property valuation, state equalized.

Residents have until Feb. 29 to pay their current taxes without penalty, Glinski announced.

He also announced that currently all department heads are preparing department budgets for submission to the mayor for later consideration by the City Council in determining the 1972-73 city budget.

LENTEN SEASON OPENS — The season of Lent opens in area churches today (Wednesday), a season of penance and love. One of the highly significant ceremonies of the start of Lent is the distribution of ashes. Rev. Raymond S.

Skoney, pastor of St. Anthony's Catholic Church of Belleville, distributes ashes to Paul Krystyniak and Cathy Allen, both eighth graders at St. Anthony Parish School.

Lenten season

Editor's note: The following is the first of a series of Lenten sermons by area pastors. This week's article was submitted by the Rev. Raymond S. Skoney, pastor of St. Anthony's Catholic Church of Belleville.)

By REV. RAYMOND S. SKONEY

Today we begin Lent, the season of interior spiritual renewal. In many of the churches people will participate in the ancient rites that is merely a relic of the solemn ritual formerly performed by the bishop with public penitents, namely the distribution and reception of ashes.

Whoever had committed a grave public sin was bound to submit to public penance at the beginning of Lent. Such was the custom from the fourth until the tenth century. This penance consisted primarily in exclusion from the community's Eucharistic service but also included the practice of works of satisfaction, prayer, mortification, fasting.

The rite of exclusion from church functions began with penitents receiving the penitential garb in solemn ritual and having their heads strewn with ashes. Then the Bishop accompanied them to the gate of the church. The expulsion was a moving ceremony and served as a stern warning to all the faithful.

As centuries passed the church mitigated her penitential discipline. Since the Middle Ages the faithful at large have voluntarily dedicated themselves to the practice of penance by receiving the ashes.

Ashes today are merely an external symbol of the interior spiritual renewal that is to take place in man during this Holy Season. Man examines himself to see who he is and how does he measure up before God and his fellow man. A renewal, a conversion, a change in attitude, word and action must take place.

To achieve this he begins with his spiritual life. He asks himself a few questions such as: Is my spirituality centered in Christ? Am I drawing strength from Scripture and Liturgy? Am I acquainting myself with recent doctrinal development? Am I neglecting personal prayer? Am I fully aware of God's revelation of Himself in today's needs?

The penitent of the twentieth century realizes that true spiritual development and growth must lead to Apostolic service. So his examination continues with the following question: Am I bearing witness to Christ in word, word and action? Am I concerned about the establishment of justice and peace among men? Am I giving priority to renew and sanctify the temporal order by reforming structures of society, eliminating causes of injustice, winning liberation for victims of discrimination, and striving to overcome differences between rich and poor?

Edwards clarifies statement on warden

Romulus City Councilman Brooker R. Edwards Monday objected to published reports of his comments made during a recent city council session relative to a dog shooting complaint. During the council's discussion of the reported action taken by the city's dog warden, George Hartgrove, Councilman Edwards had disclosed a member of his family saw the shooting. He reported he was told the dog warden picked up one dog with a rope and shot another dog.

Edwards cited an incident involving his family dog. He reported that during a recent check on dogs owned by members of the city council, the dog warden told his mother that if the family dog got loose again, he (the dog warden) would shoot him.

Edwards reported the family dog broke loose from his chain but had been returned to the back yard by a member of the family. Edwards said, "If the dog warden shoots my dog, I'll shoot him."

Edwards was reported to have said "If the dog warden kills my dog, I'll kill him."

Asked to explain the difference at the Feb. 10 council session, Edwards said, "I could shoot him with anything, I can shoot a slingshot or shoot my mouth. I didn't say I'll kill."

Dog Warden Hartgrove Monday reported his version of the dog shooting.

He said that on Jan. 17 he received a call from a woman resident where the shooting occurred saying dogs were running all over her neighborhood. She said her five-year-old grandson was afraid to get off and on the school bus. Upon checking with the resident, Hartgrove reported the father would come home from work and take the child to school. This had happened several times. Another resident reported the dog was tearing up her garbage. She stated she was 65 years old and couldn't get out of the house to pick it up. Hartgrove said he found two dogs running at large in her yard and that he and his helper tried to catch the dog. After a considerable chase around the neighborhood homes, he caught one of the dogs. He couldn't catch the second dog. He said he shot the dog near a vacant lot. The dog had no license and he stated he could not find the dog's owners.

Ford charges President with impounding funds

Congressman William D. Ford (D-15th Dist.) has co-sponsored legislation designed to prevent the President from "impounding" funds allocated by Congress.

Congressman Ford charged that President Nixon has deliberately delayed the spending of up to $11 billion which has been appropriated by Congress in the past two years for projects such as water line and sewer construction, urban renewal, low cost housing, highway construction, public buildings, mass transit and shipbuilding.

"I suppose that we can

Romulus to hold dog inoculations

The City of Romulus will conduct its annual dog inoculation program this month at the city's Animal Control Shelter, located at 35257 Goddard Rd., east of Wayne Road.

The dog inoculations will be conducted under the supervision of Dr. M.H. Wirgau, veterinarian of 22215 Goddard Rd., Taylor.

The inoculation will be administered Feb. 19 - 26 from 3 to 7 p.m. and again on Feb. 28 - 29 from 4 to 6 p.m.

A charge of $4 will be assessed for one-year inoculations and a $5 charge for a two-year inoculation.

Gliniski urged all dog owners to have their dogs inoculated and to be sure to purchase their dog licenses before March 1.

All unlicensed dogs after March 1 will be ticketed. Tickets for having an unlicensed dog brings a fine of $6.

expect to see this money released over the next nine months to help bolster the economy in time for next November's election." Congressman Ford predicted. "That may be a fine political game, but it is an appalling example of disregard for the nation's million of unemployed."

"This money was appropriated by Congress in good faith to try to meet our nation's growing backlog of domestic problems. At the same time, it would have stimulated the economy and provided jobs for large numbers of the more than 5,000,000 Americans who are unable to find work."

The legislation co-sponsored by Ford would bar the President, whoever he might be, from withholding appropriated funds from one year to the next. The bill would require the President to notify Congress whenever he impounds appropriated money. Congress would then have 60 days to approve the President's action. If the approval were not given, the President would be required to release the funds.

"This legislation would prevent President Nixon, or any future President, from playing political games at the expense of the unemployed, the underprivileged, the great mass of the American people who look hopefully to the federal government for a way out of our deepening quagmire of domestic problems."

"There is no reason why the solutions to these problems should wait for an election year," Ford asserted. "The welfare of our nation and its people come before the welfare of any politician or political party."

WORLDLY TRAVELERS - Mrs. Donna Lee Zavitz and Wayne Deputy Sheriff Richard Yearman feed oats and sugar pieces to two "lost" ponies. The ponies' curiosity got the better of them last week and they escaped from their owners, the Blanche Tucker family, only to be captured by Mrs. Zavitz. The Zavitz children reluctantly gave up their newly-found friends, but got a reward after all.

Enjoy romping through busy city

Ponies lose 'horse sense'

By BEVERLY McANALLY

The Gordon Zavitz family lives in a subdivision on Gloria Street in the Romulus northeast section. They're as busy and involved as a young family can be with Boy and Girl Scouts, Little League baseball and football, Brownies, PTA, city commissions plus all the other activities that come with having two active children in the house.

So, it was only natural, when Donna Lee came home in the early hours of Thursday morning from a neighborhood ladies "get-together" and found two horses grazing in her front yard, that she do something about it more than shouting "shoo."

"The first thing I was scared," said Mrs. Zavitz. "I came walking up the street and saw these huge shadowy shapes moving slowly about the front lawn. Every dog in the neighborhood was barking and it was all pretty scary," she admitted.

She took immediate action. First a dash into the house to awaken her husband, Gordon, and then a call to the sheriff's department, who said that indeed there were two ponies loose in the neighborhood, and, because deputies had been pursuing them up and down busy Ecorse with no luck at catching them would the Zavitz family please catch and tie them up?

"Oh, okay," responded Donna Lee, and for the next hour or so the ponies, with the Zavitz's in hot pursuit, gamboled and skipped through snowy front yards of the neighboring homes while dogs barked and the inhabitants peeked out their windows.

Finally Donna Lee snagged a rope hanging around the neck of one of the animals and the other followed meekly as she led them to the Zavitz back yard, where they were tied.

The sheriff's deputies arrived shortly thereafter to congratulate the breathless pair on a successful round-up and to suggest the ponies remain tied until someone reported them missing or the owner could be located.

Thursday morning bedlam broke loose again when at 6 a.m. 11-year old Rick and 10-year old Michele awoke and discovered ponies in their back yard nibbling on rose bushes.

"Are they ours?" Can we keep them? Do we have to go to school?" were answered by "No, no and yes," and the sad-eyed children boarded the school bus for Hayti Elementary School.

The creatures went unclaimed through Thursday and were fed an interesting diet of dried dog food, sugar, lettuce, carrots, dry cereal and rose bushes. At noon Donna Lee went out to buy hay and more fruit and vegetables.

By Friday the Zavitz children were riding the ponies and thinking of them as almost their very own. But the inevitable happened.

Maybe Rick got over confident, or maybe the pony got homesick, but Rick fell off and the pony made tracks for home. Gordon followed and started knocking on doors along Beverly Road, where the homes still stand on acres instead of linear feet.

Gordon soon heard that the Blanche Tucker family had lost two ponies and had been canvassing the neighborhoods looking for them.

"They couldn't see them tied up in our back yard," said Donna Lee.

So it was a sad procession that led the remaining pony back to the Tucker's later that evening. The whole family gathered to say "goodbye" and to leave the remaining hay and apples and put an end to an exciting two days. The Tuckers were grateful, offering to pay the Zavitz's for their trouble, which they refused.

"We really had so much fun," Donna Lee said.

No story about kids, ponies and loving parents can possibly end on such a sad note. Rick and Michele pooled their savings and bought Major the rascal that plans the stable breaks and turns out all his buddies for midnight forays into the city. The children also bought a cart and bridle. And, to make the story complete, they will pay the Tuckers to board the pony on their little farm on Beverly Road, within easy walking distance of the Zavitz family.

Commission claims

Progress made in hiring blacks

The Romulus Community Relations Commission has reported to Romulus City Council progress is being made in the hiring of black employees by Romulus employers.
In presenting its quarterly report to city council, the commission reported a study committee created by the commission is continuing to inquire among the bank branches in Romulus on their hiring of black employees.
The report, submitted by Mrs. Suzanne Cooke, commission chairman, and Mrs. Donna Zavitz, commission secretary, disclosed the commission has received little cooperation from several of its members and is now in the process of replacing them and revitalizing the commission.
They reported the projected goals for the coming months include procuring a condensed history of the City of Romulus and making it available to the citizens. It is the hope of the commission, they stated, that this knowledge will help create greater unity which the commission seeks.

It is the intention of the commission that the condensed history of the city will include contributions from the various religions, nationalities and ethnic groups to the history of the area formerly known as Pullens Corners.
The commission is in the process of mailing a letter to the various clubs, organizations and businesses throughout Romulus. The letter issues an invitation to attend commission meetings and informs them of the commission's services and its desire to assist them if the need arises.
On Monday Jacob J. Koch, Romulus police chief and member of the study committee, reported the personnel department of the Romulus branch of the Security Bank & Trust Co., is accepting employment applications from everybody.

Ambulance bills to be paid by city

The Romulus City Council has approved the payment of delinquent accounts, as adjusted, owned to the Superior Ambulance Service of Southgate.
The unpaid and presently uncollected accounts were on emergency ambulance runs called for by the Wayne County Sheriff's Department in the city of Romulus last year.
Harry H. Hayden, operations manager for the Superior Ambulance Service, presented the firm's policies and proposed agreements of uncollectible emergency service bills with respect to the City of Romulus at the Feb. 10 council session.
The amount of uncollectible bills is in excess of $3,000, dating back to August, 1971.
The council's approval on the payment of the bills due are subject to a final negotiated agreement.
Any monies that may be received by the firm after the effective date of the final negotiated agreement will be credited to the city's account.

Class tours are planned

Elementary school class tours of the Romulus Public Library and the Romulus Municipal Building will be conducted on Feb. 24 and March 2, Frank J. Tolish, director of Romulus Parks and Recreation, announced.
The class tours are cosponsored by the recreation department and the public library.
The Feb. class tour will be conducted at 1 p.m. and the March 2 class tour at 10 a.m.

Huron Senior High School will again administer the General Educational Development Test (GED).
The test, commonly called the High School Equivalency Examination, enables men and women who have left school without receiving their diplomas an opportunity to receive an equivalency certificate.
Huron High School also will give credits toward actual high school diploma upon successful completion of the examination.
Testing begins this Saturday, Feb. 19, from 8 a.m. to noon and will then be held on Monday Feb. 21 from 6-10 p.m. and Tuesday, Feb. 22 from 6-8 p.m.
The test is free if the individual is enrolled in Huron's Adult Education Class or is a resident of Huron School District.
The cost of the test is $15 for persons out of the district not enrolled in our program.

Romulus Jaycees name Carr for award

The Romulus Jaycees entry in the Michigan Jaycee statewide contest for "The Five Outstanding Young Men competition," (FOYM), is Joel B. Carr, Romulus Senior High School Principal.

Carr resides at 37027 N. Orchard Circle, Westland. Each entrant is sponsored by a local chapter.

Joel Carr, whose background includes many honors in the field of education, many said he feels his responsibility to the community is to provide a school which can be the "focal point" of this community, since from there will come the future citizens of our country.

JOEL B. CARR

While Carr is the 1972 candidate for FOYM honors, the Romulus Jaycees hope that those persons who have other suggestions for future judgments will make their selections known to the Jaycees as soon as possible. The suggestions will not only be used for future FOTM honors, but will also be helpful for an awards ceremony to be held later this year, in which many deserving persons from the community will be honored for distinguished service.

The Jaycees may be contacted by writing to the Romulus Jaycees P.O. Box 35, Romulus, Michigan, 48174 or by contacting External Vice-President Tom Van Glahn at 941-4320.

Entries for FOYM competition must be young men 18-35 years of age, however, general distinguished service award suggestions are open to any and all citizens.

Judging for the five outstanding young men will be held at the Michigan Jaycees meeting this weekend (Feb. 18-19) at Flint.

Another opinion

Who's going to pay for 20 per cent raises?

Gov. William G. Milliken has given us all Phase II in the salary sweepstakes after the Michigan Civil Service Commission approved a $24.4 million pay raise package for state employees.

That figured out to a flat 5 per cent increase, a healthy .5 per cent below President Nixon's Pay Board ceiling.

Now Milliken has tucked away in his 1972-73 budget raises ranging up to 20 per cent for top-echelon executives and waves of consternation are lapping at the dikes.

It has sent Senator Charles O. Zollar (R-Benton Harbor) chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee and Republican strong man, dashing off to the Pay Board for guidance.

"It would appear that 20 per cent pay hikes are out of line," he said.

And to demonstrate once again that the right hand isn't on speaking terms with the left, along comes Rep. Clifford H. Smart (R-Walled Lake), Republican leader in the House, calling for renewal of the 50 per cent income tax increase imposed last Aug. 1.

To get the votes to hike the levy from 2.6 to 3.9 per cent on individuals with comparable increases on corporations and banks, the legislature wrote in an Aug. 1, 1972 expiration date.

So to keep it on the books, the legislature will have to vote again for continuing the raise at least for another year.

Milliken already has imposed a two per cent budget holdback on all state agencies except Social Services (welfare) and paints a bleak financial picture if the ailing economy doesn't recover in 1972.

In mid-December Milliken's budget-makers conceded that the $24.4 million civil service increase would grow to $98 million plus when applied to non-civil service employees of colleges and universities, community colleges and state school aid payments.

Milliken's budget creates a new $35,000-a-year job of budget director for John T.

Dempsey, a raise from his $28,000 as executive assistant in charge of budget and programs.

Former Budget Director Glenn S. Allen will rise from $30,000 to $32,000 as a legislative legal counsel, Press Secretary George C. Weeks and James Kellogg, executive assistant, will both rise from $23,500 to $25,000.

Legislative Auditor Albert C. Lee will rise from $23,500 to $25,000.

Civil Rights Director Milton J. Robinson would go up from $24,000 to $32,500 and William N. Hettiger, director of administration, and State Treasurer Allison Green from $31,000 to $35,000.

Dr. E. Gordon Yudashkin, director of mental health, is down for a raise from $40,000 to $45,000; Dr. John W. Porter, superintendent of public instruction from $37,500 to $42,500.

Both are higher than the salary Milliken is collecting, $40,000, though he gave up an authorized $5,000 increase to symbolize the belt-tightening necessary to avoid bankruptcy.

Dr. Maurice S. Reizen, public health director, is in the budget for a raise from $35,500 to $40,000. He got Milliken's approval for a $35,000 deputy, a new position.

Social Services Director R. Bernard Houston would go from $31,500 to $40,000, Corrections Director Gus Harrison from $29,000 to $35,000.

State Police Director John R. Plants would go from $29,500 to $35,000 and B. Dale Ball, agricultural director, and Department of Natural Resources Director Ralph A. MacMullan from $28,000 to $35,000.

Labor Department director Barry Brown would get a raise from $28,000 to $35,000; Charles E. Harmon, director of licensing and regulation, from $23,000 to $32,000; Commerce Director Richard E. Whitmer from $30,000 to $35,000 and Highway Director Henrik E. Stafseth from $34,000 to $40,000.

And remember who's going to pay for it.

Youth does have purpose

Slick magazine articles portray the youth of today as an entirely new breed. As events continue to prove, the portrayal is about as substantial as the truth on a milkshake.

One of these events is the annual observation of National Future Farmers of America Week (Feb. 19-26). The theme of FFA Week in 1972 is "Youth With A Purpose". In spite of the cynics and skeptics, youth does have a purpose, now as always.

The FFA is a national organization of 430,000 students studying vocational agriculture in 8,200 public schools. The foundation upon which FFA is built includes leadership, character development, sportsmanship, cooperation, community service and patriotism.

The goal of FFA members is to learn the technology and get the practical experience for a career in agriculture. The strength of FFA lies with the local chapters, in which student officers and members are developing into the agricultural leaders of tomorrow under the guidance of advisers and teachers of vocational agriculture.

The youths who follow their dreams of tomorrow in the work of the Future Farmers of America can hardly be called a new breed.

They are a new generation seeking to build a better future on the knowledge and experience of the past which is what each generation must do if mankind is to advance.

Speaking of schools

Counselors are 'Johnny-on-the-spot'

By Mrs. Ellen Weaver
High School Guidance Counselor
And George Hennig
Junior High Guidance Counselor
Huron School District

Increasingly schools have come to recognize the necessity for serving the student in areas other than the principal one of instruction.

To assist the school's efforts to help the individual student develop into a well-rounded citizen, a cluster of special services has become an important part of the Huron District's educational program.

High on the list of these services stands the Guidance Department, which is co-ordinated by the school counselors. At the present time there is no full-time elementary counselor for grades one through six.

On the junior high school level, George Hennig supervises the pupil personnel services. This program is responsible for the orientation of students prior to their coming into the junior high building to enable them to make a better transition from the self contained classroom to the departmental organization and specialized subject matter areas.

Schedule changes during the school year and involvement in class scheduling and curriculum is included in the pupil services offered giving evaluation and one-to-one counseling in various areas such as peer relationships, teacher-student relationships, problem solving and understanding one's self.

The program includes identification of students with special needs and proper disposition of them such as referral to another pupil personnel service.

In the senior high school the two counselors, William Fogel and Mrs. Ellen Weaver, continue the services originated in the junior high.

Since the principal goal of the high school is education, the counselor is much involved with education-counseling. This area consists of explanation of courses offered, registration for classes each semester, direction in choosing subject areas.

In the 12th grade it means making a decision as to the college the student wishes to attend, and completing applications and tests for college admission.

Vocational planning plays an important part for a large percentage of our students who are non-college bound.

Our area vocational program in co-operation with four neighboring districts offers technical training in welding, graphic arts, carpentry, auto mechanics, machine trades, food service and cosmetology.

This program is steadily growing and much in demand by those students who are interested in services and skilled trades.

Another guidance service which involves the counselors attention is the testing program which begins with readiness tests in the elementary grades. Achievement, aptitude, special subject area tests, interest inventories and study habits questionnaires make up the internal testing program.

The external testing program, primarily for college bound for grades 9 and 10 and National Merit and Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Tests for juniors. These tests prepare the student for college admission and open up possibilities for offers of scholarships from educational institutions and industry.

In summarizing, it might be stated that our counselors are assisting students to solve educational problems, helping them wherever and whenever possible with personal problems, guiding the talented and culturally disadvantaged students to seek and discover the information which they need most to meet their educational goals.

These goals are eventual graduation from high school in order to attain the educational background necessary to achieve a higher education in college or trade school, or on the other hand it may mean obtaining sufficient vocational education and training to secure a worthwhile job in industry, trades or services.

Parents charge bus brakes defective

To the editor:

We are the parents of children who attend North Junior High Belleville.

Our children have been riding on a bus with defective brakes for five or seven days with no repairs. This bus we are talking about is No. 28. This bus is the oldest one in service and should be put off the road until fully repaired.

Our children have been late arriving at school and cold sitting on this bus waiting for help on these seven occasions. We pray that no car or truck will strike this bus and hurt our children.

We are bringing this to the attention of other parents so this situation can be corrected before a tragedy happens.

Our children's lives are in danger, also our bus driver, who is the mother of three children.

We need help now and we are asking every parent to get behind us. You can call the transportation department at the school or write the editor or use any other means to help us. This will be deeply appreciated.

The route this bus No. 28 covers is Huron River Drive, Hannon Road and the Sheldon Road horseshoe, Haggerty and Ecorse roads.

We have a very good bus driver. She is liked and respected by almost every student on the bus. Our driver is going to quit unless she gets a safe bus to transport our children.

We are very upset over endangering our children's lives and losing a very good bus driver.

Lansing report

Education board faces new salvo

BY DON HOENSHELL, Daily Eagle Lansing Bureau

Members of the State Board of Education could wear bullet-proof vests and assign persons of lesser accomplishments to start their cars in the morning.

They are the favorite moving targets in the political shooting gallery.

Gov. William G. Milliken has been trying to abolish them as an elective board for two years as part of his education reform package.

And that's the least of their worries.

Now they're under fire for drafting six school integration plans for Federal Judge Stephen J. Roth, five more than he wanted.

Of course it was a cop out, the route of possibility for eight political people, most of whom would like to ascend to a job with more stature and less grief.

It's been one seige after another since the new eight-member elective board took office Jan. 1, 1965 and inherited the late Lynn M. Bartlett as superintendent of public instruction.

There are those who argue that Bartlett tried in vain to cooperate with the board and others who contend the reverse. The shotgun marriage ended in divorce and the divided board hired Dr. Ira Polley, another mismatch as we shall see.

Chairman Peter Oppewall of Grand Rapids served until 1970 when he ran afoul of the parochial issue and was dumped by the Democrats at the state convention.

There developed the furor over whether to teach sex education in the schools and aroused parents overflowed the board meetings to cheer on their champion, James F. O'Neil of Livonia.

The issue was seized upon to fire Polley, who had sent to local districts a bibliography of sex education literature containing works much too graphic for many parents.

The board also got into trouble by following a state law requiring a racial census in the schools, a contribution to Federal Judge Stephen J. Roth's finding of de jure (intentional) segregation.

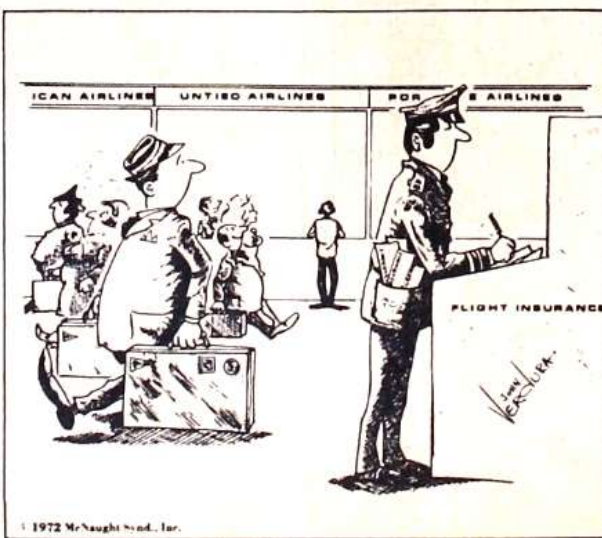

There was the flap about social studies textbooks and whether history accorded minorities the proper role in history, an issue over property transfers from one district to another.

And there is a continuing worry among local school districts that the state board is usurping its powers to control education.

Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley ruled that the board could take over control of high school sports from the Michigan High School Athletic Association (MHSSA), a privately-run organization.

So a bill was passed by the legislature providing the MHSSA with legal status and the board again was rapped across the knuckles.

The board has in many ways been a victim of history, the increasingly critical involvement of the people in matters of curriculum, race, financing and administration.

Question: What effect do barbiturates and amphetamines have on the driver of a car? W.T.B., Grand Rapids

Answer: They have a lousy effect on the driver of a car ... simply lousy. According to STASH (Student Association for the Study of Hallucinogenics) in Beloit, Wisconsin, a non-profit group which has done extensive studies on drugs, barbiturates (known as "downers") effect the nerves and muscles in much the same way as alcohol. They are depressants and cause faulty judgment and incoordination together with drowsiness. Amphetamines are just the opposite (that's why they are called "uppers" and "speed"). They are stimulants and cause increased awareness, activity and pleasurable sensations, and auditory hallucinations. Truck drivers have been known to "pop speed" now and then to help them over a long haul ... but when the company finds out, they usually are fired from their jobs. The best advice is you're taking any medication in the barbiturates or amphetamine line, with or without a doctor's supervision, is don't drive.

Harrison cites advantages of expansion plan

By HENRY CANTIN

In last week's issue of this newspaper, R. Terry Harrison of 473 Rawsonville Rd., Belleville, issued an official statement supporting the proposed $100 million expansion of Willow Run Airport in Ypsilanti.

Harrison, a professional real estate appraiser and a licensed commercial pilot, is a member of Van Buren Township's Airport Study Committee. He is the only committee member to issue a report favoring the airport expansion.

In this week's issue, the second and final portion of a two-part article, Harrison cites that there are two geographical areas used as the basis for counting acres of land and numbers of buildings involved in the expansion and therefore in the assessed valuation gained or lost.

In addition, he lists what he terms the advantages and disadvantages of the proposed airport expansion.

The first area to be considered is that absolutely required to become part of the airport proper and the second is that area which is or may be affected (real or possible consequential damages) by the operation of the airport, Harrison said.

The following data used by Harrison was taken from the Wayne County Road Commission and the Airport Study Committee "reports."

The airport study committee report claimed that 916 buildings would be eliminated in the two areas for airport expansion as against an estimate of 320 buildings made by the road commission.

The road commission estimate, Harrison said, includes 67 buildings owned by General Motors Corp., which were scheduled for eventual removal anyway.

He reported the assessed valuation lost by the township according to the committee's report would be $7.7 million. The road commission had no estimates on the assessed valuation that would be lost, but Harrison estimated that $25.8 million would be gained.

Harrison disagreed that the airport's proposed expansion would involve a quarter of the township, as claimed by the airport committee and Supervisor G. Elton Gollwitzer.

"The fact of the matter is that the township consists of 23,040 acres, the original expansion plan takes only an additional 1,850 acres, about 1,400 acres already exists as tax exempt airport land."

"The 1,850 acres represents eight per cent of the township and even if another 1,850 acres were needed for approach zones, it would be a total of only 16 per cent of the township and not 25 per cent."

Among the advantages listed by Harrison that the airport expansion would bring the township are:

1. Increased tax base, not only from the airport itself but from related businesses, industry and general growth.
2. Increased population due to proximity to work, satellite industries, new housing, shopping centers, etc.
3. Higher land values
4. Increased wealth to state and region due to the above.

"These advantages are all due to the fact that it would become a truly international airport and unique as one of the world's few 'cargo' airports, Harrison said.

The airport expansion proposal (originally disclosed by the Wayne County Road Commission, operators of the Detroit-Metropolitan Airport in Romulus) seeks to make Willow Run Airport the world's largest cargo airport and a reliever for the Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

In supporting the expansion proposal, Harrison said:

"Willow Run Airport is geographically well suited to serve the auto industry, especially since air shipment of motor vehicle parts has climbed from fifth position 20 years ago to number one in the United States today. It is in the center of four main limited access freeways. It is close to two railroads. It has topography and good drainage. It would be relatively cheap to expand. It is in a large population area and centrally located for the whole United States. It could be developed and managed with experience."

Gollwitzer defends position

"The information brought out by this committee indicates that such an extensive expansion of the Willow Run Airport is not in the interest of Van Buren Township.

"Whatever motives may be ascribed to my actions by Mr. Harrison, the fact remains that I will do whatever can be done to stop it. The 'big expansion' is far from inevitable.

"Much as I would like to accept Mr. Harrison's credit for single handedly opposing the airport expansion, it would be grossly unfair to the many others who have worked so hard at uncovering the facts of the situation."

The Airport Study Committee is composed of Raymond G. Clift of 11584 Juniper Dr., Belleville, chairman; Mrs. Betty Ottewell of 6920 Sheldon Rd., Belleville; Mrs. Gladys Baldwin of 12044 Ryznar Dr., Belleville; Robert Beck of 8537 Morris; Marshall Hope of 180 E. Huron River Dr., Belleville; John B. Barber of 968 W. Huron River Dr., Belleville, and Harrison.

Today the airline industry is spending millions of dollars on noise abatement and the elimination of air pollution and before the Willow Run concept becomes a reality, these problems will have been eliminated."

As to the possible temporary loss of tax base, Harrison said, "I say 'possible' because though there will be properties taken off the tax rolls, and it may take some time to regenerate that tax base, the people who are bought out may very well repurchase right back in this township, and almost always at a greater dollar investment than they previously had." He cited the General Motors Corp. $6 million construction program in the township near the airport.

As to the slowing down of growth and development, Harrison stated that the "slowing down of the overall progress would be only temporary and when the 'lid blows' the rate of development will advance by leaps and bounds."

He said those who are opposing the airport expansion are mainly ecology "nuts," politicians and homeowners.

Betty Ottewell urges all-out campaign

An all-out campaign by Van Buren Township residents who oppose the proposed $100 million expansion of the Willow Run Airport was urged Monday by Mrs. Betty Ottewell of 6920 Sheldon Rd., Belleville.

Mrs. Ottewell is a member of the seven-member Citizens Airport Research Committee appointed by township supervisor G. Elton Gollwitzer and approved by the township board to research the effects the proposed airport expansion would have on the township.

The committee handed down its report some weeks ago, and on the basis of the report and other studies the Van Buren Township Board of Trustees adopted a resolution officially opposing the airport expansion.

Mrs. Ottewell, in calling upon township residents who oppose the airport expansion to speak up and voice their stand, said: "Now is the time for everyone in this township against the expansion of Willow Run Airport to stand up and be counted."

"James Davey, managing director of the Wayne County Road Commission and the Detroit Metropolitan Airport, states that the airport expansion is inevitable. Believe me, nothing is inevitable but life and death."

"Something can be done about the expansion if people have the backbone and ability to say, 'I am an American citizen'. I reside in Van Buren Township and the Wayne County Road Commission is not going to dictate to us that they are going to expand Willow Run regardless of our feelings. They are not going to tell us we have to move, and tell others you must live in the noise and pollution."

In an open letter to the township's residents, Mrs. Ottewell added:

"This is a free country, for the people by the people and of the people. We are the people. We are going to stand up and take our position, and if by chance everything fails and the Willow Run Airport is expanded, we know that we have done everything in our power to stop it, to save our homes, our environment, our property and township."

"I believe this is the time to take a stand behind our supervisor and the township board in the opposition. Show Davey the kind of strong, reliable, intelligent people we have in Van Buren Township."

"I have, in attending both the township and airport study committee meetings, listened very closely to Gollwitzer's decisions and he has earned my respect. I have a high regard for this man not only in the matter of the airport, but in other matters."

In her appeal to residents for support in opposing the airport's expansion as proposed, Mrs. Ottewell added:

"I am appealing to you to stand for your rights. Attend meetings that are concerned with the expansion. Be heard at these meetings regarding your opposition."

"Don't be afraid to let the Wayne County Road Commission know how you feel. Back the township in its opposition. Maybe if these things are done, we the people can make the inevitable the impossible."

Michigan's 1971 football team posted a perfect 11-0 record, the first Wolverine team to go undefeated since 1948.

Poetry corner

Tammy Holcomb, 11, a sixth grader at Rawsonville Elementary School in Van Buren Township, has become quite a poet, according to her teacher, Miss Pat Noffsinger.

Tammy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Holcomb of 2032 Moeller St., Ypsilanti, was born in Lynch, Ky. She has four sisters ages 16 through 24 and one brother, 8. Her poem submitted to the teacher follows:

TAMMY HALCOMB

OUR DREAM

We're all in a circle hand in hand
But we're still fighting for our land
Some people think that it's the end,
But it's only the beginning, my friend.

We're all trapped in a room that's lost its key,
trying our hardest, our best to get free.
And with the people helping to make a new key,
this dream of ours may be.

Someday soon our dream will come true.
But it won't be happening for me and you.
But for all other people all over this land,
And from that day on we'll walk hand in hand.

"Unfortunately, in the fevered minds of some of our ecological nuts, we must go back to the world of Hiawatha but somehow retain most of our present amenities, too," Harrison.

The politicians think they may gain a vote here and there by "jumping" on the bandwagon, he said.

The homeowners' opposition "is manifest of the general selfish attitude of many suburbanites. They oppose everything connected with growth and progress, new and better schools, rezoning and consolidation of over-lapping, archaic, non-functional government," Harrison said.

"The homeowner wants all the advantages of all-embracing, maternal government without raising his taxes."

"DEAR DIANE," read the letter, "I want you to know that I read Shopper's Digest, and that I do visit many of the places you write about. Carl's Corner seemed a little out of the way for me, in my work-to-home pattern, so I saved it for a Sunday when I can go in and take my time. In fact, I stopped to see so many things as I came into the store, that it took me 30 minutes to get back to the Wig Department. As it happened, I DIDN'T buy the Wig you described. They were less than the price of a hairdo, just as you said. I tried them on and they were lovely. But then I tried on another one called an "Elura" wig, and it did so much for my appearance, and for my spirit, that I had to write to thank you for recommending CARL'S CORNER, and here's a picture of me before the Wig and after! What do you think about the difference? We've deleted one paragraph in order to tell Anita Sullivan of Plymouth, that her short Sunday ride to CARL'S CORNER, at the corner of Plymouth & Telegraph in Redford makes her look infinitely more attractive, considerably younger...AND, you can get another one THIS WEEK at a Sale Price, Anita. Goon! (Find out if Blondes have more fun!)

THEN, ANITA...if you feel like a brand new Y.O.U., you'll begin to feel like there's a whole new world out there, too! That's because there IS...and our Friends at TOWN HOUSE TRAVEL, at 1440 Monroe Blvd., in Dearborn, can help you to rediscover it in the nicest ways possible! ONE dream of a Trip they're offering right now is a Caribbean Cruise slated (at VERY Special Group Rates) for June, and it's SO fabulously planned and priced, that only a few spots remain unbooked! This one will last 8 days, cruising across a blue Ocean, stopping at romantic ports, dancing in the moonlight...walking sandy beaches, strolling down quaint streets in charming little towns, being in a place away. Such luxurious extras as transfers in private Limousines, duty free shopping in St. Thomas, are all a part of the plan! Want to know more? Simply call 278-4600 and tell them where to mail the Brochures. Read them, and if they sound good, call again, to secure those last Reservations!

New law could increase snowmobile fatalities

Michigan recorded more than 30 per cent of all snowmobile-car fatalities in the nation last winter, and that figure could increase this year if a proposed amendment to the state's snowmobile law is passed, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

The new amendment would permit snowmobilers to use highway right of ways in any part of the state. Under the current law, effective Jan. 1, 1972, snowmobilers may operate machines on road right of ways, but not on the roads themselves, north of a line from Muskegon to Bay City only.

Of all the car-snowmobile fatalities recorded so far this season in Michigan, half have occurred below the imaginary line where snowmobiles are now prohibited along right of ways. Auto Club also points out that car travel is heavier and snowmobile use is lighter in southern than in northern Michigan.

"Should snowmobiles be allowed to use highway right of ways in the southern Lower Peninsula — alongside the heaviest traffic in the state — this winter's Michigan snowmobile death toll almost certainly would set a new national record," according to Fred Rehm, Auto Club general manager.

More Michigan snowmobilers have been killed and injured in collisions with cars this winter than in any other way, Auto Club points out.

Of the 19 snowmobilers killed so far, 12 died in highway-related accidents.

During the 1970-71 season, Michigan recorded 13 of the nation's 42 automobile-related snowmobile fatalities. Michigan also led the nation with 25 snowmobile deaths and 128 serious injuries. Nationally there were 102 recorded deaths and 206 serious injuries.

National statistics for last winter also reveal that snowmobilers between the ages of 15 and 24 were involved in 106 of the death and injury mishaps, or 25 per cent of the total, while the 25 to 44 year olds were involved in 150 total accidents, or 38 per cent. snowmobilers killed so far this season in Michigan is 25, and more than 60 per cent of those fatalities involved automobiles.

Despite this evidence, certain northern Michigan towns and villages have passed local ordinances allowing snowmobiles to use streets. The current snowmobile law allows this option.

Auto Club points out that many snowmobilers do not understand the current law, which is designed to keep machines off roadways and reduce car-snowmobile collisions.

The first weekend the current snowmobile law was effective (Jan. 1 and 2), the Roscommon County Sheriff's Department issued over 200 tickets.

Builders near airport ordered to meet codes

Two big builders near Detroit-Metropolitan Airport were ordered last Thursday to either meet all Federal Housing Administration (FHA) acoustical requirements or be "shut down."

The action came after the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) investigators found that they charged were violations in the projects.

The FHA is a part of HUD.

The department has issued orders to the developers to provide free storm windows, doors and screens for all houses sold with FHA and VA-insured loans in the project area around the airport.

The HUD instruction on meeting its acoustical requirements applies to all builders engaged in residential construction near airports.

It was reported new HUD regulations ban FHA mortgages on new homes near the Detroit-Metropolitan Airport and Selfridge Air National Guard Base near Mount Clemens because of excessive noise from jet airplanes.

The regulations which HUD appraisers must follow in any of the affected areas place homes in three noise zones.

One of the developments, called Applewood, is located south of Eureka Road, near Harrison Street in Romulus, and one mile down the road is a higher-priced subdivision called Cambridge Square, where Albert Kanfer is constructing nearly 300 homes at prices up to $33,290.

The Applewood development is being constructed by Kaufman & Broad Homes.

The three noise zones used by the HUD appraisers are Zone One, unaffected areas; Zone Two, establishes acoustical standards for new and existing housing in affect areas; and Zone Three, an area where the noise decibel rating is so high that even acoustical requirements would not prevail.

Kenneth Hooton, subdivision appraiser for FHA, Detroit, reported Monday the FHA policy used two years ago on approving FHA mortgages is the same used today.

Hooton said FHA mortgages are still being approved for homes in Zone Two area.

Senior citizens, vets reminded of tax relief

Romulus area senior citizens and veterans who are eligible were issued a reminder Monday by Harold L. Reiner, city assessor for the City of Romulus, to file their annual applications for tax relief under provisions of Michigan's Senior Citizens Homestead Tax Exemption Act.

Applications forms are now available at the City Hall, located at 11111 S. Wayne Rd.

Deadline for filing applications is March 10, 1972. The applications, Reiner said, must reflect required financial data as of Dec. 31, 1971.

To qualify under the new law, a citizen must have lived in Michigan for at least the last seven years, be 65 years of age or over and have a total income including social security of not more than $6,000 in 1971.

Based on applications filed last year, there are 70 senior citizens and 30 veterans yet to file their applications.

In 1972 a total of 492 senior citizens and 181 veterans filed applications for tax relief.

When filing applications for exemptions, the applicant must bring a birth certificate, a deed or title to homestead property and social security number.

Senate group to study road commission

LANSING — "Policies and practices" of the Wayne County Road Commission - including its attempt to acquire and expand Willow Run Airport - may soon be under study by a special State Senate Committee. State Sen. William Faust (D-Westland) has introduced a resolution which calls for the creation of the committee and charges that the legislature has received many complaints about the commission's policies and practices.

"Most recently, the Road Commission has attempted to gain ownership of Willow Run Airport and expand the facility," said Faust.

"This attempt is truly unresponsive to the will of the people because very few residents of the communities near the airport desire such expansion. The public, in this case, has no recourse because the Wayne County Road Commission is an appointed body and voters have no direct control over its members."

In introducing the resolution, Faust pointed to recent newspaper articles indicating that FHA is not likely to approve mortgages for homes in the area around Metropolitan and Selfridge Airports because of noise levels.

"I am afraid that expansion of Willow Run Airport could produce similar results," he said.

The senator stressed however, that his resolution was not prompted by the airport controversy alone.

"It is remarkable that a body invested with as much power as the Road Commission has been enabled to hold office on an appointed rather than an elected basis," he said.

Although road commissioners are appointed by the Board of Commissioners, Faust said it is difficult for even county commissioners to exercise control over them because the appointments are staggered and for terms of six years.

If the resolution sponsored by Faust is approved by the legislature, a five-man committee will be appointed and empowered to subpoena witnesses, administer oaths and examine the books and records of any person, partnership, association or corporation involved in a matter before the committee.

The special committee would be required to report its findings and recommendations to the 1973 legislature.

Van Buren getting 'nothing for something'

To the editor:

You've heard the old saying "you can't get something for nothing." Well, at the Van Buren Township Board meeting of Jan. 25, I heard a proposal which gives Van Buren taxpayers "nothing for something."

Specifically, a motion was made by Jerry Maton and subsequently approved by Maton, Hogan, Payne and Birk (Trustees Cullin and Blend voted "no"), which directed Township Supervisor Gollwitzer to spend your tax dollars to hire an additional attorney to handle the township's legal opposition to the Willow Run Airport expansion.

Now you ask, why is this all necessary? Well, our present township attorney, Mr. Hopson, is a law partner of Mike Berry, who is chairman of the Wayne County Road Commission. It is this commission and Mr. Berry who are pushing so hard to turn our township into one big airport. Consequently, after a complete study of this obvious conflict of interest, Trustee Blend made the motion to adopt the following resolution to eliminate this conflict of interest:

"Whereas The Township of Van Buren presently retains the law firm known as Berry, Hopson, Francis and Mack as the township attorney.

Whereas Mr. Michael Berry, head of that firm, is chairman of the Wayne County Road Commission.

Whereas The Wayne County Road Commission has announced their intention to more than double the size and activity of the Willow Run Airport.

Whereas Mr. Berry and some of his staff have become national figures in the business of airport construction and management.

Whereas The Van Buren Township Board has taken a position to actively oppose this extreme expansion.

Whereas opposition to this expansion must be performed primarily through legal action.

Whereas the quality of work required to defend the township against the designs of the Wayne County Road Commission's leaders must be exceptional.

Whereas the retainer fee of $13,500.00 per year presently paid to Berry, Hopson, Francis and Mack should be sufficient to hire such exceptional talent.

Whereas the position held by Mr. Berry and his firm in Wayne County government poses a conflict of interest in differences that arise between the county and the township.

Whereas the proposal of the Wayne County Road Commission, of which Mr. Michael Berry is chairman, to use a large percentage of Van Buren Township for an airport constitutes an extreme conflict of interest.

Whereas in a similar situation in Romulus Township when the Metropolitan Airport was being developed, Mr. Berry withdrew his services as township attorney.

Therefore, be it resolved that the law firm of Berry, Hopson, Francis and Mack be relieved of its duties as township attorney within 30 days of this date, and that the necessary steps be taken to enlist the services of another law firm which has no connection with county government or with Berry, Hopson, Francis & Mack.

Be it further resolved that this resolution become part of the published minutes of this meeting and that the vote be by roll call."

Please note that the last item in the resolution was to publish it as part of the Township Board meeting minutes so that you would be informed.

A vote was taken on the adoption of the resolution. The result was a "no" vote by Hogan, Payne, Birk and Maton. (Hence, no publication of the actual facts involved).

It was at this point that the supervisor was directed to hire an additional attorney. Mr. Hopson, being an "all heart" kind of guy, offered a "reasonable" part of his $13,500 retainer to pay this added attorney. Well, how's that for a real big break for us?

Any way you want to slice it, Mr. Hopson still sits at the township board meeting and has full access to all of the township plans to defeat Mr. Berry's Willow Run Aircraft project. Now I ask you, do you think this type of information won't get back to Mr. Berry?

KEITH SIMONS

Simons sets national mat record

By TOM MOORADIAN

Belleville's Keith Simons established a national high school wrestling record for consecutive victories by falls Saturday when he emerged with his 21st successive pin.

Simons, a heavyweight who last year won the National Junior Olympics' title as a heavyweight, broke the record barrier when he floored Edsel Ford's (Dearborn) Fred Stanton in 1:36 to claim the Suburban Eight title for his weight class.

A few minutes earlier, the rugged senior athlete disposed of Trenton's Steve Stackhouse in 1:23 to tie the national mark. He also pinned Plymouth's Butch Campbell in 59 seconds for his 19th successive pin.

Simons' over-all record on the season is 23-0-0. The other two victories came on a forfeit and by default.

"I'm real glad for him," said Simons' coach, Tom Fritz. "He's a very observing athlete and a hard worker. I just hope that I can find someone as skillful as Keith to coach in the future."

The 18-year-old Simons also excelled in football this season, making the Associated Newspapers' and The Daily Eagle's All-Area teams.

When it was announced that Simons had set the record, the fans came out of the stands and carried him to the locker room.

Redford Union, which took a perfect dual meet record into the league meet and accumulated a total of 103 points was crowned the inaugural Suburban 8 Conference champ. Belleville, with a 5-1-1 league mark and finishing third behind Trenton 62½ at the league meet was the runnerup, while in the over-all standings Trenton was third.

Finishing in order were Edsel Ford (56), Livonia Bentley (47½), Plymouth 23 and Allen Park (18).

Belleville also had two other champs. John Smith and Gary Krajewski finished with gold medals in the 135 and 170 pound classes. Krajewski's and Smith's performance drew plaudits from their coach.

"I wrestled Gary up one weight and he did an excellent job and Smith's just a sophomore so you know that he has a great future ahead of him," said Fritz.

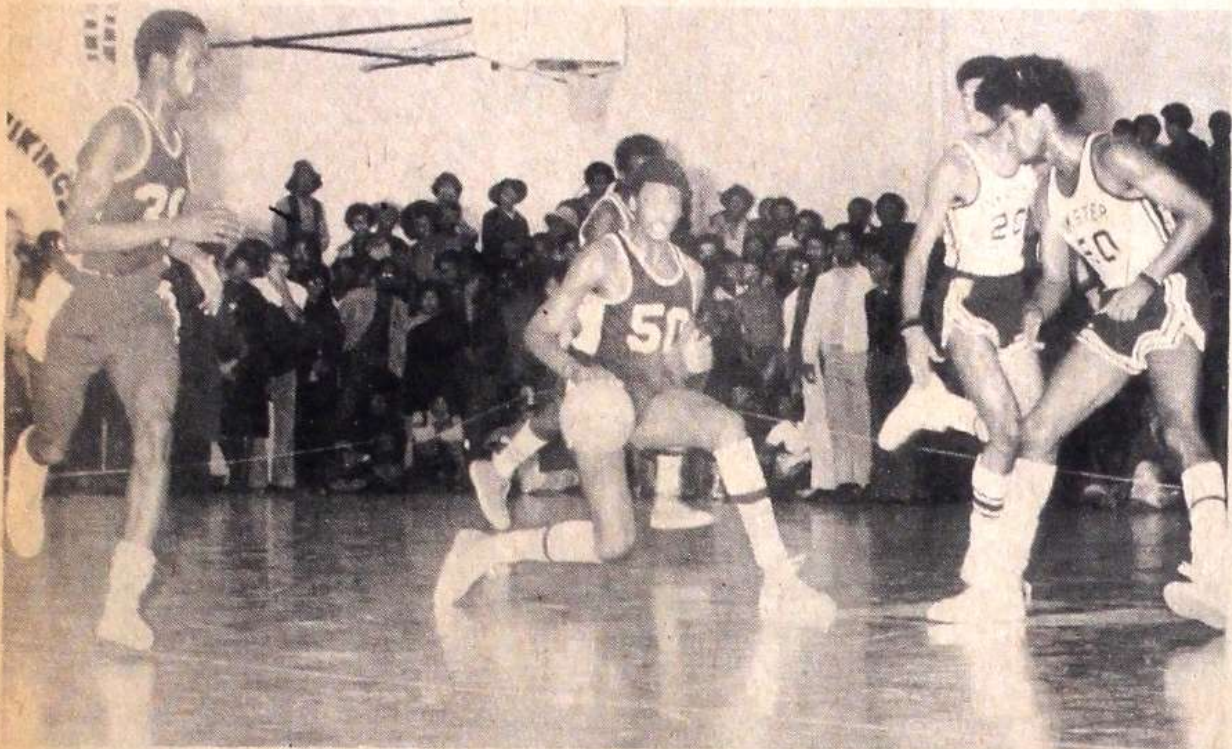

Smith avenged an earlier defeat to Bill Carroll of Trenton, winning a close 3-2 decision for the gold. He also turned back Dale Robinson of Redford Union, 4-0, and trounced Tom Hastings in 40 seconds.

Krajewski pounced on Liverance, 6-3, to take the gold medal away from the Trenton wrestler. Gary also dumped Dearborn's Miller, 9-2 and Edsel Ford's Plumer, 4-2.

A heart-breaking 10-2 defeat at the hands of Redford Union's Dennis Campbell forced Belleville's Joe Garcia to settle for a silver medal in the 119-pound class.

Belleville had a third place finisher in Frank Horton who in the 113-pound class.

TAKE IT LONG — Looking for a corridor towards Inkster's basket is Romulus John Long (50) who eventually passes off to teammate Tony Owens. Romulus had the defending Mid-

Wayne co-champs on the run for two quarters before bowing to the Vikings 62-52 before a capacity crowd at Inkster High.

Belleville set for WW

All indications are that Belleville is ready to defend its Western Wayne Swim & Diving title.

Coach Sam Vicchy's Tigers hold down most of the top times in the area and, though they have dropped a couple of league meets, the losses were to state defending champ, Dearborn and to another respectable Dearborn team, Edsel Ford.

The meet will be staged on Saturday at Belleville High with teams representing Wayne Memorial, Westland John Glenn, Livonia Franklin, Churchill, Garden City East, Garden City West, Cherry Hill, Inkster and Robichaud expected to take part.

The defending champ isn't expected to make it a runaway as it did a year ago. Livonia Franklin, Cherry Hill and Garden City East will bring respectable aggregations to this year's meet.

The diving preliminaries will begin at 10:30 a.m. while the swimming events at 1:30 p.m. Finals will be conducted at 7 p.m. Medals will be awarded to the top three finishers in each of the 11 events while the fourth through fifth place finishers will be presented ribbons.

The winning team and its coach will also be awarded trophies.

Admission will be charged. For the preliminaries it'll be 75 cents and the finals will cost $1.00 per person.

Belleville won its third Suburban Eight Conference dual meet in five starts, turning back Redford Union 57-48. The Tigers will host Allen Park tomorrow night.

After losing the opening 200-yard medley relay, on a judge's decision, Vicchy's Tigers went on to claim six first places, three of those by the Ackron brothers. Jim Ackron finished the 200-yard individual medley in 2:13.9 for his first triumph, then returned to the pool to stroke a 1:08.4 to win the breaststroke event.

Brother Dean polished off the 100-yard butterfly in 57.6 which was a school record.

Dean's time eclipsed the old mark of 57.5. Teammate Jeff Fry's 51.4 for the 100-yard freestyle tied the school mark for that event. Also carding victories were Brad Susterka, in the 100-yard backstroke (1:02.7), and the 400-yard freestyle relay team of Jeff Liedel, Matt Byrnes, Steve Rowan and Kevin Owen (3:44.4).

The results of the meet are as follows: Belleville 57, Redford Union 48;

200 YARD MEDLEY RELAY: 1. Redford Union, (O'Mara, Anthony, Kochevar, Charles), 1:49.5; 2. Belleville, (Stone, Stead, D. Ackron, Terry Mills), 1:49.5x; Lost on judges decision.

200 YARD FREESTYLE: 1. L. Stokley (RU), 1:53.4; 2. Fry (B), 3. Cullin (B).

Bedford awaits matmen

Unlike Belleville, Romulus grapplers didn't have a chance to use a league tournament to prepare for the district meet this season. Coach Jim Stallings' Eagles were left without a league when the Twin Valley Conference dissolved last year.

However, a league meet may have little effect on his wrestlers, says Stallings whose team wrestled an "independent schedule" this season.

"True we were sort of left out when it came to a league," said Stallings. "But we have a bunch of strong competitors on this year's team and while others are busy with league meets, we were getting ready for the districts."

"It gave us more time to work," he said. Romulus and Belleville will head for Bedford where some of the top-ranked Class A teams in the state will assemble. Bedford, undefeated in dual meet competition, is also ranked the No. 1 team in the state this year.

Other teams that will be at Bedford include such perennial wrestling standouts as Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor and Trenton. Unlike other years the wrestlers will not be competing for a district championship but to qualify for the regionals.

The wrestlers who reach the semi-finals will advance to the regionals.

"There are no consolation brackets this year," explained Stallings. "If you're beaten once in the preliminaries, you're out. However, this system provides for more wrestlers getting out of the districts and vying in the regionals. The top four wrestlers in each weight class will advance to the regionals."

Romulus will have a core of impressive wrestlers who, barring injuries, could survive the districts and regionals. Among those candidates are Virgil Smith, 135-pounds (20-6-1), Brad Smith, 129-pounds, (21-5-1), Aaron Cross, 141-pounds (24-3), Robert

Gates' Tigers prove they can still win

Belleville's cage machine, huffing and puffing through most of the season, has sped full steam ahead, rolling over Dearborn Edsel Ford, 60-44 for its second consecutive victory and the fourth win in 10 starts in the Suburban 8 Conference.

For three quarters Edsel kept Coach Allen Gates' on the edge of the bench as the host went to the front of quarters leads of 12-10, 26-23 and 37-35. However, a fourth quarter rally led by Keith Neeley and Mike Garland helped the Tigers overcome their league rivals.

Neeley scored 10 points and Garland five in that decisive fourth quarter.

"Our defense was the key to our victory," noted Coach Gates. "It was superb."

One of the players who earned plaudits from the coach was Terry Pate, who managed to shut off Edsel's leading scorer Rob Berce after the half. The T-Bird, who collected 18 points the first two quarters, sank only six the last two periods. Pate also managed to haul in 14 rebounds.

Neeley had his team's high of 15 points, while Pate and Marty Miller each had 12 and Garland settled for 11 points. Berce was the only Edsel player in double figures.

Belleville looked good at the free throw line where the Tigers cashed in with 16 of 21. Edsel capitalized on eight of 11 tries.

One statistic that pleased the Belleville coach was the lopsided 43-30 count his team outscored their hosts. Cicotte and Neeley had 11 and eight of those, respectively.

Calling it "his team's best over-all performance," Gates saw his Tigers snap a five-game losing streak at the expense of Livonia Bentley, 69-64. The loss killed the Bulldogs' chances of catching league-leaders, Redford Union.

Court blasts Inkster

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

Basketball is a game between two teams, refereed by two judges and coached by strategists who should devote all their time to what is happening on the court and not worry about what is happening behind them or the playing conditions.

The fans are spectators - and should be just that. They shouldn't play a decisive role in the outcome of the game. Players and coaches win or lose - fans should have nothing to say about the ultimate decision.

And you have to feel sorry for guys like Inkster's George Thompson and Romulus' Dave Court whose teams met Friday night in a nonleague game before a capacity crowd.

Inkster won the game, if you want to call it that.

But Court feels that "it wasn't a basketball game, it was a 'cabaret.'" "With all that smoke and alcoholic beverages being consumed, with no room to move on or off that court, with all that adverse condition - for both teams - I just can't see how anyone could call what happened at Inkster High Friday night a 'basketball game,'" Court pointed out.

"I respect Coach George Thompson and his team. They have an outstanding team, but to say which is the better team on the results of what happened at Inkster, would be ridiculous."

The game was delayed several times because of the overflow of crowds. There were fans sitting right on the sidelines and standing at the base lines through security guards had been set up to try to control the crowd, their efforts went to naught.

"My principal and athletic director advised me not to play the game," said Court. "But one of the referees said if we didn't play the game we wouldn't get out of there alive."

"The referees were so intimidated that they asked our personnel to 'please escort us out of here'. Is that anyway to conduct a game?" asked Court.

Court pointed out that five of his players eventually fouled out of the 'game'.

"We had 32 personal fouls called against us and all five of my starters fouled out, and that's ironic, because they were the ones pressing because we had the lead and none of their players fouled out."

"We estimated that our first string played together a total of seven minutes and I quit trying to communicate with the kids after the first 10 minutes because it was so obvious what was going on."

"Our principal, athletic director and three coaches were forced to sit on the floor because we didn't even have room on the bench and I had to stand because there was no room," Court related.

Sports Meridian

"If they want to say they beat us, then good," said Court, "but I'm really disgusted."

Reminded that he would be the host for the coming district basketball tournament, Court said: "We will have room for 1,400 fans and that's all that will get in there. We'll post 10 armed guards and when the tickets are sold, no one, believe me no one, will be able to slip a dollar to anyone to get into the game."

That rematch - if there should be one - between Inkster and Romulus should be an interesting one. Taylor Center, Westland John Glenn, Wayne Memorial or Taylor Kennedy could stop it. These are the high schools that also will be fighting it out to reach the finals at Romulus.

And I wouldn't miss it for nothing, not even for all the pop cans they sold at Inkster Friday night.

Romulus bows to Inkster

"Cage experts" usually allot a 10-point advantage to the home team. If this is so, then there'll be another cliffhanger, if Inkster and Romulus clash in the district basketball tournament. Inkster staged a dramatic come-from-behind rally to catch Romulus on the Viking court to win a 62-52 nonleague victory before an overflow of fans at Inkster High Friday night.

It was Inkster's 13th victory in 14 starts, while the loss was Romulus' second of the season. The Eagles are now 10-2 this year.

Disgusted with the conditions his team was forced to play under, Romulus Coach Dave Court blasted the host for its ineptness in staging a basketball game. (Read The Sports Meridian for Sports Editor Tom Mooradian's comments.)

"It wasn't basketball that we played there," said Court. "If they feel they beat us, then let them think so, but, under those conditions neither of us can truthfully say which has the better team."

Court slapped the school for letting "fans intimidate not only himself, his players but also the referees. Those guys were frightened to death out there. I know it and they know it."

"That's not a way to play basketball," Court said.

Early jitters caused numerous turnovers on both sides of the court but Romulus, thanks to James Hall's eight points, managed to eke out a 17-12 first quarter lead and held on to a slim advantage until midway in the third period when the Vikings finally found themselves.

Andre Richardson, Inkster's 6-10 senior center, was held to three points in the first half, and it was Calvin Redding and Cyrus Timmons, who teamed up to supply the undefeated Mid-Wayne Conference co-champs with enough scoring powers to stay in the game.

At the half Romulus had the upper hand 29-23, but then fell behind 43-38 in the third quarter, never to catch the Vikings again.

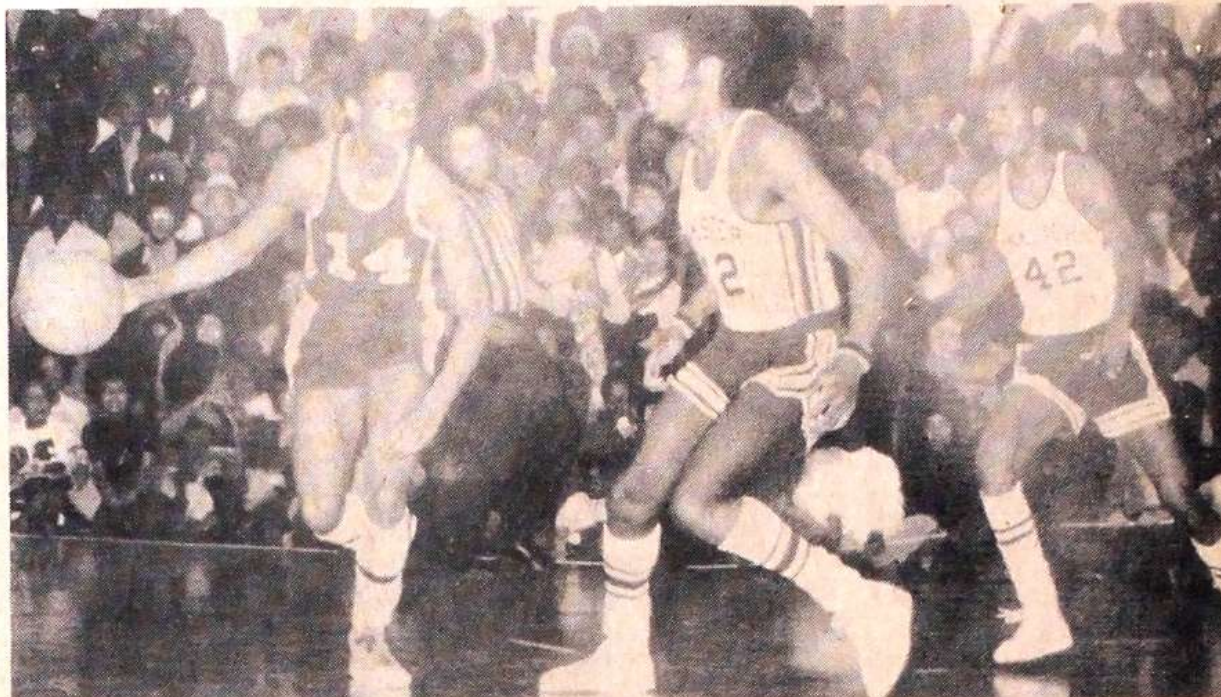

Calvin Harris, who played an exciting floor game for Romulus, scored 15 points, while Hall finished with 18. John Long counted 16. None of the Romulus starters was around at the end of the game. All had fouled out.

Redding and Timmons combined for 30 points, with the former's 18 tops for the Vikings.

The two teams will be pitted in the same district which Romulus will host the first week of March. There is a possibility that they will meet again. Also at the Romulus tournament will be Wayne Memorial, Westland John Glenn, Taylor Center and Kennedy.

Inkster will take on Dearborn Heights Annapolis Friday night at home, while Romulus will await River Rouge, the top-ranked Class B team in the state again this year.

Inkster isn't expected to have any problem with the Heights cagers who are in the last place. Romulus will try to avenge a 62-60 loss to the Panthers on the Rouge court earlier this year.

STOP SIGN AHEAD — With Inkster's Ronnie Grayson (12) and Calvin Redding zeroing in on him, Romulus guard Calvin Harris looks for other teams to get to the Viking basket. Harris scored 15 points in a losing cause against their hosts

Friday night. Coach Dave Court's Eagles will have another "toughie" Friday night when defending state class B champs, River Rouge, at Romulus. Inkster can clinch a share of the title Friday with a victory over Dearborn Heights Annapolis.

Chiefs drop two more

Huron's woes continue

Huron's basketball Chiefs continue to have their troubles, dropping two more contests last week. The Chiefs came out on the short end of a 74-58 decision with Riverview last Tuesday, then handed a 73-64 verdict to Carlson.

In the Riverview meeting, Huron played a "disappointing game," according to Coach Andy Herman, letting four of the five Riverview starters wind up in double figures. Huron trailed by 39-26 at the half. "We were dead out there and we didn't show any movement," Herman said.

Fred Cordts led Huron in the scoring department with 14 points while Mario Gracia finished with 12 and Dana Kemp came through with 10.

Against Carlson, Huron gave up a lot of ground in the opening quarter, and couldn't quite get the right combination in trying to get back into the game. "It was a rugged contest," Herman said. "There were a total of 64 fouls called and they blew us out the court in the first quarter. After that we couldn't hit a thing we scrambled too much. We didn't play the type of game we should have."

Carlson held on to a comfortable 25-8 lead after the first quarter and led at 41-30 when the two teams adjourned to the locker rooms at the half. Carlson came back in the third quarter to up the advantage to 62-43. Huron outscored Carlson 21-11 in the final period, but the early damage was too much to make up.

Carlson's Gary Hinzman was the game's scoring leader as he pushed through 18 points. For Carlson, John Clark finished with 15 and Gary Henson and Jerry Shaw closed out the evening with 12 and 10 points, respectively.

Fred Cordts, Huron's sharpshooter, was held to just eight shots from the field in the game, but he did manage to finish with 10 points. Gracia wound up as Huron's high scorer with 11 points.

The Chiefs were to travel to meet Dearborn Heights Annapolis last night before taking some time off to rest for the stretch drive in the Huron League. The next action for the Chiefs will be the season finale on Feb. 25 when the squad plays host to Huron league rival, Grosse Ile. Huron stands at 1-13 on the season.

IRS helps taxpayers with tax returns

Area taxpayers can obtain assistance with their 1971 federal income tax returns Monday through Friday each week at the IRS office in Dearborn, announced William Howarth, local district director's representative.

In announcing the 1972 tax assistance days, Howarth pointed out that Internal Revenue does not actually prepare returns for taxpayers, but rather provides whatever answers, instructions or information individuals need to prepare their own returns. Howarth also discussed under what circumstances the IRS will compute the tax for individuals in accord with a change in procedures introduced last year.

Taxpayers must fill in specified portions of their return if they wish to have IRS compute the tax. The information required is explained in the Form 1040 instruction booklet. These returns should then be sent to the Internal Revenue Service Center, Cincinnati, Ohio 45298, where the tax will be computed.

Howarth suggested area residents make note of this information for future reference. He also said most taxpayers will be able to obtain answers to their federal tax questions by phone on the designated assistance days. The assistance phone in Dearborn is 226-7602.

Army offers unit of choice law enforcement option

The U.S. Army has announced a new unit-of-choice option according to Sgt. Bob Maine, local recruiter for Romulus and Belleville.

The U.S. Army Military Police Enlistment Option became effective Feb. 1, says the sergeant. Under the option, enlistment into six units will be available. Qualified young men are guaranteed their choice of assignment to one of the units for a minimum of 16 months and training in Army career group 95, law enforcement.

The three-year enlistment option includes the following units: 30th MP Battalion, Presidio of San Francisco; 503d MP Battalion, Fort Bragg, N.C.; 508th MP Battalion, Fort Riley, Kan.; 518th MP Battalion, Fort Hood, Texas; 519th MP Battalion, Fort Meade, Md.; 759th MP Battalion, Fort Dix, N.J.

Additional information on the new Military Police Option can be obtained by visiting Sgt. Maine at his office, located at the Wayne Post Office.

When Freeman engraves the valuables of a township family, the family will have the valuables categorized on a special form to be kept in a safe place for future reference if needed.

In addition, the family will receive two stickers to be placed on or near the front and back doors. The stickers will notify potential burglars that the family has joined Project Theft-Guard and that its valuables have been identified.

Freeman reported that it has been shown that in communities where this type of program has been conducted, that the identification of valuables

Ford asks President

Eliminate tax loopholes

Congressman William D. Ford (D-Mich.) has announced that he will oppose President Nixon's proposed $20 billion increase in the national debt ceiling unless the President presents a plan to close loopholes in the federal tax laws.

Congressman Ford made the announcement in a joint letter with several of his colleagues asking all House members to join them in the move.

"We are convinced that the federal deficits we now face are due to the administration's mismanagement of the economy, and to a tax system which is riddled with loopholes," Congressman Ford said. "The President has refused to spend money appropriated by the Congress for needed public improvements which would stimulate the economy, he has encouraged massive tax reductions for big business, and he has refused to support a meaningful tax-reform program."

Congressman Ford pointed out that the House Ways and Means Committee has reported favorably on legislation that would raise the national debt ceiling by $20 billion, to a new limit of $450 billion. It is anticipated, he added, that the Administration will have to ask Congress for another increase in June.

In their letter to other House members, Congressman Ford and his colleagues announced their intention to ask the Rules Committee for a rule that would permit an amendment to the present debt-increase legislation when it comes to the floor for a vote.

The amendment would direct the President to submit to Congress by May 1 a comprehensive program to close existing loopholes in the Federal income, estate and gift tax systems.

"If such an amendment is not included in the legislation, we intend to vote against the proposed increase in the debt ceiling and we urge you to vote 'no' also," the letter stated.

Congressman Ford recalled that a similar ultimatum was made to President Lyndon B. Johnson in a 1968 revenue bill.

In response to the Congressional demand, Johnson submitted a proposal which resulted in the Tax Reform Act of 1969, the most comprehensive tax-reform legislation in several decades.

"That bill, as first drafted, contained provisions to eliminate the very loopholes that we are now seeking to close," Congressman Ford recalled. "But these provisions were later deleted.

Kaminskis-Riekse wed

is scene of nuptials

The Central Reformed Church in Grand Rapids was reserved February 5 for the wedding of Meredith Ann Riekse of Grand Rapids and Lieutenant Richard Walter Kaminskis of Belleville. Some 125 guests were assembled for the four o'clock nuptials officiated by the Rev. Marlin Vander Wilt.

Dr. and Mrs. James M. Riekse of Grand Rapids are parents of the bride while Bellevillites Mr. and Mrs. Vitold Kaminskis of 48750 W. Huron River Drive are parents of the bridegroom.

Escorted by her father, the bride entered the sanctuary in a toe-touching gown of ivory crepe designed with a high neckline and bishop sleeves with a braided belt tracing the high-rise waistline.

Her floor-length veil of silk illusion cascaded from an ivory crepe Camelot headdress and she held a crescent-shaped bouquet of apricot roses and stephanotis.

THE BRIDE'S three sister's formed the bridal coterie while the lieutenant's two brothers and close friend served as groomsmen.

Judith Riekse was maid of honor and Mrs. John M. Norden of Wyoming, Michigan and Laurel Riekse of Grand Rapids were bridesmaids. All three donned rust-colored crepe frocks in the empire mode with bouquets of apricot roses and white pom poms adding contrast.

Best man was Ron Kaminskis of Belleville and ushers were Roger Kaminskis of Round Lake, Illinois and Ron Stokes of Belleville.

Following a reception at the home of the bride's parents, the newlyweds departed for a week-long honeymoon in Seattle, Washington.

The new Mrs. Kaminskis is a senior at the University of Michigan and her husband is a U-M alumnus currently serving as a Second Lieutenant with the U.S. Army at Fort Richardson, Alaska where the couple plan to live.

Prior to the wedding, the bridegroom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner at Holly's Ristorante at Holiday Inn, Grand Rapids.

MRS. RICHARD W. KAMINSKIS

Convenience foods:
expense vs. service

"Many of the foods we buy offer built-in services," says Kathleen Bufton, Wayne County extension home economist. "They might be pre-cleaned, peeled, mixed and/or cooked."

Some convenience foods cost more, some about the same and some even less than similar foods prepared at home, she says. A USDA survey conducted in Washington, D.C. revealed these comparisons:

Each of four commercially prepared, frozen, ready-to-heat plate dinners - meat loaf, beef, fried chicken and turkey - cost more than its home-fixed counterpart. The costs ranged from about 25 percent higher for the beef dinner to 110 percent higher for the chicken.

These costs are based on home-prepared dinners with the same amount of meat, potatoes and second vegetable as the commercial dinners, Mrs. Bufton points out. The price of both, however, may vary greatly with different cuts of the same meat.

The cost of frozen main dishes varies with the brand, according to the survey. For example, in Washington stores one brand of beef pie cost twice as much while another cost about the same as a beef pie made from a home recipe. Usually, the more expensive brand contains more meat.

Preparation methods also make a cost difference, the home economist says. Frozen chicken chow mein was found to cost between 20 percent and 80 percent more than the home product. Canned chow mein was only 7 percent more.

The baked goods category showed the most variation between convenience and home-prepared costs, she says. Frozen waffles cost three times as much as homemade waffles; but canned, ready-to-bake biscuits were only one-third more than homemade ones. Ready-to-eat apple pie was about 80 percent over the home-baked price, but ready-to-eat brownies and sugar cookies were about the same.

Comparisons like these (which can also be done by individual consumers) aren't meant to prevent homemakers from spending more on convenience foods, Mrs. Bufton points out. Instead, comparison shopping keeps you from spending more for convenience than you intend.

Available time, cooking skills and the desired size of servings may be more important than cost of the food.

Put punch
in meat dollar

What can you do to make your meat dollar accomplish more? The chuck is a good place to look for budget buys in beef. This is pot-roast territory, the site of blade, arm, English or Boston and cross rib pot-roasts. Ninety-nine pounds of pot-roasts come from the chuck and over half are retailed as blade pot-roasts. Less tender than roasts from the rib section, these large cuts are best when cooked by braising which makes them tender and desirable. This method also offers opportunity to supplement beef's fine flavor with various braising liquids and vegetable and fruit additions.

Chocolate Date-Whip
to please the family

Here is a simply delicious dessert idea for everyone who likes chocolate pudding and whipped cream and the sweet rich flavor of dates. . . . And who doesn't??

The Home Economics Department of The Bordo Products Company has created this tasty recipe, using its imported diced dates which are fresh and naturally flavorful and so easy to work with!

To prepare the chocolate-date whip, you'll need:

- 1 8-oz. package Bordo imported diced dates (or use Bordo pitted whole dates cut-up)
- 1-3 cup water
- 1 4-oz. package uncooked chocolate pudding (not instant)
- 2 cups milk
- 1 cup whipping cream
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Place diced dates and water in heavy covered sauce pan over medium heat for 5 to 7 minutes, stirring occasionally, until the dates become soft all the way through.

Puree diced dates and liquid in a blender or ricer, or mash with a fork. Cool.

Prepare pudding according to package directions using the 2 cups of milk.

Remove from heat and place wax paper over the surface of pudding to prevent skin formation. Cool.

Beat whipping cream until stiff.

Add vanilla to whipping cream and blend.

When pudding is cool, remove wax paper and beat with an electric mixer on medium speed for 1 minute.

Add date puree to beaten pudding and continue to beat at medium speed until well blended.

Fold whipped cream and vanilla mixture into date and pudding mixture.

Spoon into individual serving dishes and chill.

This recipe yields 8 servings.

A lovelier you

Exercise and like it

By MARY SUE MILLER

(Second in a series of five columns on How To Slim and Trim.)

By dieting wisely and faithfully you are able to lose whatever amount of weight you desire. But diet alone gives no promise of where you will lose. Your weight may be normal, yet your waist might wear an abnormal budge.

To make sure of neat contours, you must combine exercise and diet. Mild spot-trimming routines turn the trick. This one sculpts the waistline: Lie back down on floor with arms extended behind head. Legs together, bend knees until they hover above diaphragm. Then slowly straighten legs, holding them about 2" above floor. Repeat twice without letting legs touch floor. Relax and perform entire routine 5 to 10 times, resting between sets. (Hip and Leg Routines to follow during series. Watch for them.)

The better to enjoy exercise, take these tips: Work on a mat or carpeted floor, near an open window. Work to music, it's good company. Start-off easy, increase repeats, speed and precision at own speed. Never miss a day, as it breaks muscular discipline.

Your Second Day's Menus: Breakfast: Half orange; 1 toaster waffle section, 1 tsp. honey; hot beverage, no sugar. Luncheon: Two poached eggs, 1 slice toast; green salad, tossed with dieter's dressing; sugarless beverage of choice. Dinner: Broiled lamb chop; half cup baby peas; 6 cherry tomatoes, raw or steamed; small dipper raspberry ice; demi-tasse. Between meals: One pint skim milk per day. Tomorrow: Shotcuts to Diet.

To assure high quality, the recommended maximum storage period is 3 to 4 months for ground beef and 6 to 12 months for other fresh beef. Defrosting is best done in refrigerator or during cooking.

Apple overcoat for pork

Give a pork loin roast an applesauce coat for a winter meal. Simply spread the roasting loin with spiced applesauce during the last half hour of cooking. Remember, when roasted to only 170 degrees F. internal temperature (which is well done) pork is juicier and cooking losses are less.

A reminder...

The Belleville Enterprise-Romulus Roman offices are now located in the "heart of town" in the old Township Hall Building at 405 Main St. We're in the front half of the brick structure from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Multiplication rate rises

From the beginning of man to 1650, the world's population figure had grown to an estimated 500 million. From 1650-1850 this figure doubled, reaching 1 billion. By 1930 the population figure stood at 2 billion, and it's expected to double again by 1975 with the world population at 4 billion.

Washington Bean Soup for the 22nd

The call "Soup's on!" will bring the family running when they know the tureen holds Washington Bean Soup. For once this flavor-packed soup of ham hocks and navy beans is sampled, it's not forgotten.

The hocks can be left intact in the soup if desired. Or remove the hocks, cut the meat from the bone and return it to the soup, suggests Reba Staggs, home economist of the National Live Stock and Meat Board.

Washington Bean Soup

- 1 pound dry navy beans
- 2 quarts cold water
- 2 to 3 pounds smoked ham hocks
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 bay leaf
- 1/2 chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons drippings

Wash beans, cover with cold water, bring to boil, reduce heat and boil gently 2 minutes. Remove from heat, cover and let stand 1 hour. Do not drain. Add ham hocks, salt, pepper and bay leaf. Simmer 2 1/2 hours. Remove bay leaf. If desired, remove hocks, cut pieces of ham from the bone and return them to the soup. Lightly brown onion in drippings and add to the soup. Continue simmering for 30 minutes, or until meat and beans are tender. 8 servings.

Amy Vanderbilt's etiquette

'Money shower' raises question

By AMY VANDERBILT

"Dear Miss Vanderbilt: I am in a dither as to how to handle this situation. My daughter and I received the following note:

Dear Mrs. Smith, Jane is having a shower on— Only relatives will be attending. It will be a money tree shower. Jane would be so happy to find your money card among her cards on her day. Hoping to hear from you soon. (Signed by the mother of the girl).

"Do you think this is proper? Should we in any way acknowledge this request or just ignore the whole issue as the gall of a demanding mother?"—Mrs. R.J."

Some people are offended at the suggestion that they contribute to a money tree either for a shower or for an anniversary. Actually a money tree is a very practical and sensible thing. When people have all kinds of household articles and might yearn for some cash for a trip or something special, it is a deeply appreciated gift. Also, the bride-to-be very frequently prefers money to many ill-assorted and sometimes ill-chosen gifts. As only relatives are going to attend this shower, you must be a relative. The invitation doesn't require you to contribute to the money tree if you already have fixed on another gift, but it would be nice for you to contribute if you accept. If you regret the invitation, you don't need to contribute to the money tree or send any other gift. If you are not relatives and have been inadvertently invited, I suggest that you regret.

"Dear Miss Vanderbilt: I have searched the library for some guide rules on giving a retirement party, in this case for the president of a medium-size company. The plan is to give a present at a champagne reception. Do we ask for donations, accept donations if offered or absorb all costs with company funds? Invitations will be sent to employees, close friends and business associates.—Mrs. T.E., Newark, N.J."

Invitations to such parties are worded and typed somewhat in this fashion:

You are cordially invited to attend a party to be given for Robert Brown on his retirement after 40 years with Acme on Tuesday, February 15th, at the Empire Room, Waldorf Astoria from 5 to 7:30 p.m. Please indicate below whether or not you will be present and whether you want to contribute to a gift to be presented on this occasion. (The invitation is signed by the organizer of the party.)

( ) I will be present
( ) I enclose check for $8 toward purchase of retirement gift. (Checks should be made payable to —, person organizing party.)
( ) I will be unable to be present but wish to contribute to the retirement gift, check enclosed.

(For Amy Vanderbilt's booklet, "Letter Writing," send your name and address, plus 75 cents in coin, to: Miss Amy Vanderbilt The Daily Eagle, P.O. Box 1066, Weston, Conn. 06880, requesting the booklet by name.)

Boys and girls between 9 to 19 years of age can join a 4-H Club or sign up for short-term projects.

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

BY HAROLD REDISKE, DIRECTOR

George Washington said, "It is impossible to govern in this world without God and the Bible." As we celebrate his birthday, we wonder what he would say, in his dismay, if he saw what was happening today.

In his dismay, he would see anti-society groups concerned only with self satisfying desires. In his dismay, he would see growing numbers of anti-society youth flouting unbridled morals with a creed of live it up today, the heck with tomorrow. In his dismay, he would see rampant crime increasing at an alarming rate. In his dismay, he would see decreasing numbers of people saying Grace before meals, ignoring the once common custom. In his dismay, he would see Godlessness accepted as a gospel and Gospels of the Bible snubbed, even by serious minded intellectuals.

True, he would see a majority of Americans also dismayed by these same things. True, his dismay would be caused by a fractional minority of our people. But, unless the majority influence the minority to change their views, customs and behavior, Washington's words will eventually haunt all of us. . . .

Use raw fruits and vegetables as garnishes

Sure they're tasty, inexpensive and healthy — a critical part of everyone's daily diet. But sometimes it takes a special appeal to get your family to eat the fruits and vegetables they need.

"Why not emphasize the beauty of new fruits and vegetables by using them in garnishes and table arrangements," suggests Anita Dean, extension foods specialist at Michigan State University.

"Modern design stresses the functional aspect of materials," she says. "Why shouldn't your table decorations make use of the variety of colors, shapes and textures in fruits and vegetables? They probably won't last longer than a meal; but, then, that's the idea."

Garnishes can be a pleasing accent for meats, casseroles, salads and desserts. A small tomato, wedged almost to the bottom and opened, makes a delightful daisy shape to top a macaroni dish. You can even roll the tomato peel into a tiny rose and attach it to a sprig of parsley, the specialist suggests.

Red and green roasted peppers, cut into strips, spark a steak platter. And fresh or baked cinnamon appleslices accent any pork plate. Raw or cooked mushrooms, dipped in lemon juice to preserve their color, are another attractive garnish for meats.

Dried fruits are a handy resource for talented and inexperienced cooks alike. Mrs. Dean says. You might sprinkle raisins or currents on pudding; surround a molded gelatin with apricots and figs; or top a peach milkshake with colorful peach slices. The combinations are endless, the time needed is minimal and the result — a gourmet attraction.

An edible centerpiece is another delight for family and guests, the specialist says. Depending on the color and shape of the foods you use, you can convey a formal or informal mood. And, at the right time, your arrangement can turn into an "impromptu" refreshment center.

Grapes, carrot sticks and celery hearts are traditional bases for raw vegetable relish trays. But you might also explore the possibilities of raw cauliflower, cucumber spears, small onions, nuts, tomatoes and even watermelon wedges, she suggests.

Use a hollowed pumpkin fruit bowl, or a favorite piece of driftwood for a background. Let your imagination be the major ingredient.

Governor makes plea for sensible land use

The annual conference of the Michigan State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) in Grand Rapids Feb. 7 heard Gov. William Milliken deliver an urgent plea for a "sensible land use policy."

The governor called land our most precious natural resource and warned we must have a good land use plan soon or face the further growth of unplanned urban sprawl and a deteriorating environment in the state. Milliken praised the productivity of Michigan farmers, but said even with farmers' ability to grow more on fewer acres, we must still be careful how we use our land if we are to have the best possible environment for Michigan's people.

Elvin Person, deputy administrator of the ASCS in the U.S. Department of Agriculture, told nearly 400 state and county committeemen and county office personnel that the newly-announced option for feed grain farmers under the 1972 set-aside farm programs is aimed at cutting corn production back below consumption this year.

Person pointed out that due to the corn blight scare and exceptionally high corn yields in 1972, the country enters the 1972 crop year with heavy feed grain supplies. The new program will help to draw down these supplies so the market can work more effectively.

"The planting intentions survey completed on Jan. 27 indicated too much corn would be planted in 1972," Person said. "Normally, we would simply have increased the set-aside. This year, however, that would have cut back our acres of soybeans and cotton... and the markets for those crops would have been shorted. This would have hurt farmers' incomes. Instead, we are now permitting farmers to set-aside an additional 10 per cent of their feed grain bases for a higher payment rate — provided they agree to cut their 1972 corn and sorghum plantings back from the 1971 level and shift some of these acres from corn to other crops."

Person stressed the new 1972 feed grain option is a one year solution to a special problem. "We do not plan to foster a new 'base race' in which farmers plant all they can every year to protect their history for the future. The whole thrust of the Agricultural Act of 1970 is to let farmers grow the crops they can grow most efficiently and profitably. We think the need for flexibility was proved last year, when farmers were free to select their own cropping pattern, and only 10 per cent of them chose to follow the old pattern of bases and allotments."

Person also stressed the land farmers set aside under the program must really be cropland, comparable in quality to the land on which they are growing or would have grown crops. He noted ASCS is now offering an additional service to help them be sure of meeting set-aside requirements. On request, ASCS personnel will provide premeasurement service to assure a farmer he has set aside enough land to meet his obligation under the program, and also that it meets the requirement for comparable quality.

Edward Hews, chairman of the ASCS Management Analysis Commission, reported on the agency-wide effort to improve service to farmers through better procedures and fuller use of third-generation computers. Hews said the project would help give faster, more complete service for farmers at their county ASCS offices in the future and provide better information for policy planners to design more effective farm programs.

New Lions club awaits charter

Wayne County's newest Lions Club—the Metro Airport Lions Club—held its first meeting and elected a temporary slate of officers.

The new club, sponsored by the Belleville Lions Club, held its first organizational session at the Holiday Inn, located near the Detroit-Metropolitan Airport in Romulus.

Chuck Lavery, Lions district governor, was the principal guest speaker at the meeting, which was also attended by other area Lions officials, including Chum Stockwell of Belleville, representing the Belleville Lions Club.

Elected temporary officers pending receipt of a state charter are: Don Hebert, president; Dan Hunter, treasurer; and Pat Cook, secretary.

The new club has scheduled its second meeting for tomorrow (Thursday) at the Detroit-Metropolitan Airport to lay plans toward making its application for a state charter.

They were grouped for the filming in five-year service categories ranging up to more than 30 years with the company.

The dealers participating in the shooting were elected from stations located in Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

On the set were six service station pumps representing five-year intervals from the 1970's back to about 1940.

Scout cookie sale begins

When local Girl Scouts begin their annual cookie sale this Friday (Feb. 18) they'll be facing a challenge that would overwhelm ordinary salesmen.

Their goal for this year's sale is 375,000 boxes of cookies, which averages a little more than three boxes per household in the Huron Valley Council area.

Mrs. Jack Hagopian of Plymouth is chairman of this year's sale, and she has headed up the cookie sale for the council for the past two years. According to Mrs. Hagopian, the Huron Valley Girl Scouts will be selling Burry cookies this year.

"The council sold Burry Cookies for many years, but last year we decided to sell another brand," she said. "There was a lot of negative customer reaction to the change, so we went back to Burry this year."

The cookies will sell for 50 cents a box as in the past, she said, and for every box sold the local troop will make a 5-cent profit and the council an 18½-cent profit.

"If the goal is realized, troops will earn a profit of $18,750 and the council profit will be nearly $70,000," she said.

"Most troops have special projects they plan to fund, like special service projects and camping trips," she said. "The council profit will be used to provide camperships and other kinds of financial assistance for needy scouts. Some of it will be used to buy camping equipment and some to pay for other expenses connected with camps, like insurance and building maintenance."

The Huron Valley Council operations are partially funded by 12 United Funds and Community Chests in Washtenaw and Livingston counties and the western half of Wayne County. There are nearly 12,500 Girl Scouts in the Huron Valley Council, but Brownie Scouts, the seven and eight-year-old girls, do not participate in the cookie sale.

Area chairmen for the cookie sale are: Mrs. James Rorabacher, Plymouth; Mrs. Ursula Lang and Mrs. Calvin Morrison, Westland; Mrs. Richard Jorgensen, Belleville; Mrs. Michelle Renke, Romulus; Mrs. Peter Hogberg, Flat Rock; Mrs. Joyce Lambly, New Boston.

Crossing signals, gates recommended on Martz Rd.

Hearings Examiner William A. Austin of the Michigan Commerce Department's Public Service Commission has recommended that automatic flashing-light signals and half-roadway gates be installed at the Martz Road crossing of the Norfolk and Western Railroad.

The Martz Road crossing is located in Van Buren Township, southwest of Belleville. An accident at this crossing last June resulted in one fatal, injuries to two others and property damage.

A new mobile home park which has caused an increase in traffic on Martz Road, and poor visibility for eastbound traffic approaching the double track crossing were cited by Austin as the main reasons for recommending installation of the signals and gates.

Area residents have complained about the crossing for some time prior to the examiner's hearing.

Austin's proposal for decision will be adopted by the commission unless exceptions are filed by the railroad or other parties by Feb. 21, or the commission decides to review the decision of the examiner.

Babysitting class set for special children

A special course in baby sitting for special children is being offered by the YWCA of Western Wayne County in cooperation with Miss Mary L. Durbin, special services, Garden City Schools.

The course, beginning Thursday, Feb. 17, is designed to train people to stay with retarded children to allow their parents an evening or a few hours away from home knowing their child is in good hands.

The course will include general first aid, aids for games and crafts, understanding these children techniques for working with them and other instruction so that both "sitter" and child will be at home with each other.

During the six weeks term of one day a week, participants will make kits to help them in their work and will visit Elm School to observe these children in their school activities. Much has to be learned by the general public about the potentials of these children.

Anyone interested in taking this course or in learning about the other special program, VEP's Fun Night, should call Miss Grey at the YWCA, LO 1-4110. This latter program is a once a month night out for the trainable retardates from Norris School.

Volunteers are needed to help supervise games, run movie projectors, make refreshments, help with tours and outings or share their skills and knowledge with these children.

Scouts entertain at PTA meeting

The program portion of Hayti Elementary School's PTA meeting last week was taken over by the boys and girls who are members of the group sponsored by the PTA.

Nearly 200 parents attended to see members of Cub Scout Pack 830, Boy Scout Troop 830, Webelos Troop 830 and Brownie Troops 634 and 664 present skits, songs and demonstrations to show their accomplishments and appreciation to the sponsoring group.

During a business meeting, a nominating committee was announced by Mrs. Donna Lee Zavitz, president. Election of officers will be held in March.

In other business, it was approved to buy a pop corn machine. Approval also was given to a special fund raising event to be held each month through June to assist the newly opened Help Center with telephone costs.

Miss Sharon Wagner's fifth grade won the room count award. Refreshments were prepared and served by Girls Scout and Brownie troops.

Traffic deaths increase

Michigan started its traffic record for the year by showing seven more deaths in January with a total of 144 compared with 137 in the same month of 1971. State Police traffic division provisional figures disclosed Monday.

January's average for the past five years, 1967-71, was 140. All-time high for the month was 189 in 1937 while the low was 59 in wartime 1943.

The state's traffic toll for all of 1971 has been reported by the division to be 2,152, which was 25 less than 2,177 reported for 1970, about a one per cent reduction.

Reports of delayed deaths will raise somewhat the provisional figure for January.

Diabetic clinic begins Feb. 28

Diabetics and their families can learn about the condition of diabetes mellitus, its control and treatment and the relationship of diet in classes sponsored by the Wayne County Department of Health.

The next series of classes for diabetics and their families will begin Feb. 28 7 to 9 p.m. at the Wayne County Health Center, Merriman Road, Eloise, and continue for six consecutive Monday evenings.

The importance of the diabetic's cooperation with his physician is stressed along with the patient's responsibility in caring for himself in order to lead an active, normal life.

All diabetics regardless of age may attend with written approval from their physician. Children under 14 should be accompanied by a parent.

To register for the class call the Wayne County Department of Health, 274-2800 or 721-0200, extension 6901.

In feed grain plan

New option announced

Nick Smith, chairman of the Michigan State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Committee announced at the Feb. 7 ASCS Conference in Grand Rapids that a new option under the 1972 Feed Grain Program will give farmers larger payments.

The conference was attended by more than 200 state and county committeemen plus office personnel. He stressed that all options previously announced are still offered.

The new options are being offered because of indications of larger than expected 1972 feed grain plantings, particularly corn, as reported in a January survey of farmers' planting intentions released last week.

Under the new option, corn producers, after setting aside the 25 per cent of their feed grain base to qualify them to earn their basic payment, will be able to earn an increased rate of payment on additional set-aside - 80 cents per bushel on an added 10 per cent of their base. For sorghum the payment will be increased to 76 cents per bushel.

To qualify for the higher payment rate under this new provision, the producer will agree that for each acre of additional set aside, his 1972 plantings of corn-grain sorghum will be reduced by two acres below his 1971 corn-grain sorghum acreage.

Thus, one acre would be set aside and held out of all production and the second acre would be held out of corn-grain sorghum production but could be planted to any crop not subject to other program restrictions. In addition, producers may offer an additional 5 per cent of their corn-grain sorghum base at the same rate which may be accepted at the option of the secretary.

As originally announced for the 1972 program, producers can qualify for a payment of 52 cents per bushel for corn and 42 cents per bushel for grain sorghum for a 10 percent extra voluntary set aside. This will continue to be available.

They also will be eligible as announced Oct. 18, 1971, for another 5 or 10 per cent at this same rate with the Department announcing in late March whether any of this will be accepted.

Signups for participation in the 1972 program began Thursday, Feb. 3, and will continue through March 10.

With useful cabinets, book shelves Accent family room

Decorating family rooms can be exciting, matching furnishings and finishes to tastes and activities of family members and indulging in offbeat treatments without restraints encountered in the more formal living areas.

Of all the rooms in the house, the family room lends itself most readily to experimentation, affording a chance for innovative treatments, even for whimsy.

It's a relaxed area, gathering place for teens or adults, game or guest room, and the scene of such a wide variety of activities that it also demands versatility in furnishings and storage.

One family transformed a basement room with unsightly concrete walls into an enjoyable leisure center, covering the walls with rough-sawn, channel pattern cedar boards.

A row of cabinets was built in from one corner to the used brick fireplace and along another wall. Cabinet fronts are of the same cedar boards, nailed to "Z" braces to make flush-fitting doors.

The cabinets are designed for a variety of storage needs, including a sewing center, camping and sports equipment, and a clutter cupboard for games, hobby supplies and other odds and ends. A serving counter is used for informal entertaining.

A high bookshelf along the wall from fireplace to corner was made of 1x8-inch pine with molding strip at front edge. A bookshelf-recorder changer combination unit along the adjacent wall helps to make this a favorite corner for secluded reading.

The cedar wall boards and cabinet fronts are of a lower-cost grade with knots, adding to the rustic, relaxed mood of the room. The boards were finished only with a clear sealer, brushed liberally into the wood to intensify the cedar's warm coloring.

A round, low table and several comfortable chairs, plus a sofa that turns into a guest bed, add to the versatility of this room.

Many other family rooms fail to live up to their potential because they're too small or poorly shaped to begin with, the furniture is just a hodgepodge of castoffs with no thought of combined function, or there are no nooks or storage facilities to serve various activities.

On home improvements

Questions, answers

Q—We are making an attic into two rooms. I want to put down a one-sixteenth of an inch vinyl asbestos tile floor, but I have been told that an underlayment must first be installed. Can't I just put the tile on the floor boards?

A—It depends on the floor. If the wood subfloor is solid, well nailed at the joists and free from any springiness, you can put the tile directly on it. These conditions don't exist in too many attics. In most cases, it is better to install underlayment—one quarter inch thick if the subfloor boards are 4 inches wide or less, one half inch if the boards are more than 4 inches wide. Should you have a double wood floor in poor condition or if the top boards are more than 4 inches wide, use the underlayment. There are many kinds of underlayment. Some are little more than compressed paper, some have a surface that is rather rough and some have a surface that is porous and may contract and expand with changes in humidity and temperature. Most manufacturers of resilient flooring recommend plywood or hardboard underlayment. The Asphalt and Vinyl Asbestos Tile Institute recommends "underlayment grade plywood" under vinyl asbestos when underlayment is needed.

Q—I try to be very careful, but every time I use a roller to paint a wall, I seem to get paint splatters on everything nearby. What am I doing wrong?

A—The first thing you're doing wrong is to have anything near the walls where it can be splattered. The best policy is to move everything to the center of the room. If this isn't possible, at least cover everything. In using a roller to paint a wall, start at the top but begin each stroke with an upward movement, stroking lightly and evenly. Three things cause splattering—having too much paint on the roller, rolling too fast and spinning the roller at the end of the stroke.

Q—I have to put up some doors soon. I intend to use regular loose pin butt hinges. How do I determine the proper size of the hinges?

A—Your dealer probably has a chart of hinge sizes corresponding to door sizes. There are too many variations to discuss them here, since the factors to be considered include the type of door, the height, the width and the thickness. Generally, however, wood doors between 32 and 37 inches in width and between one and one-half and two inches thick require 5-inch loose pin butt hinges.

Updated bathrooms still can have old features

Many houses with old-fashioned bathroom fixtures can be updated without doing an expensive remodeling job, points out artist-designer Jack Denst, who has just remodeled his 90-year-old Victorian House in Chicago.

While he used "every trick in the book," he says, to make rooms look larger, he may have taxed his ingenuity more in the bathroom than any other place.

Instead of using a lot of mirror-bright finishes, he decided to turn the bathroom's old features into decorative assets, adding a few contemporary attractions without incurring too big an investment. The removal of a small wall of a tiny bedroom next to it provided him with more space, and a tiny closet became a shower stall.

A bathtub with claw feet was moved to a more prominent position. Still utilizing existing plumbing at its former position along the wall, it now juts out into the room. Behind it on a wall covered with a patterned bronze foil, he placed a convex "shoplifter's mirror."

Still following the old theme, Denst used an old-fashioned coat rack as a towel rack and he covered the narrow window in the 12-foot high room with three tiers of brown shutters. Next to the window he boxed in a section of old pipes covering it with brown suede.

Instead of concealing the toilet behind a costly partition as one might find in new homes, Denst used a smoke-colored plastic panel which was hung from the ceiling. A Victorian mantelpiece was moved from the master bedroom's fireplace, stripped of its finish and used above twin wash basins. It was wired so that eight clear bulbs could be strung along it to provide light and reflect it in the mirror. Wash basins were sunk into a roomy cabinet that holds linen and supplies. (Attractive old cabinets or furniture chests can serve as a wash stand in which plumbing and basins may be encased.)

There are many pluses in old bathrooms, and one feature may be a beautiful old tile floor. If a few tiles are missing, consider replacing them with new tiles, even multi-colored ones that might provide random bits of color. If one has a piece of sculpture, a painting or a lovely plant, it, too, will enhance the appearance of an old bathroom, adding to the electric look, Denst explains.

Weeping windows can mean serious floor, wall damage

If your windows "weep," get set to shed some tears. Condensation can mean trouble.

It occurs this way: heated indoor air comes in contact with a window chilled by wintry temperatures. It condenses, fogs the interior pane, drips onto sash and sill, and — if unchecked — can even damage walls and floors. (Summer's arrival doesn't solve the problem. If hot outdoor air strikes a window cooled by air conditioning, condensation may form on exterior sash and pane.

The best way to deal with condensation is to avoid the circumstances that allow it to happen. This means using windows whose sash and frame materials won't respond to weather changes. Tests show that wood windows such as ponderosa pine units with factory-applied weatherstripping and insulating glass offer maximum protection against heat loss — and condensation. Reason for the sash choice is that wood is poor conductor of heat, and therefore, a natural insulator. Aluminum and steel are excellent conductors (transmitting heat 1,770 times faster than wood does) and poor insulators. Good weatherstripping is important because it prevents air seepage around sash and frame.

Double-glazing — storm sash or insulating glass — is essential in preventing condensation. Insulating glass (two panes sealed together at the edges to create an effective air vacuum) is the modern method, and is obtainable in all styles and stock sizes of ponderosa pine windows. Moisture won't form on wood windows with insulating glass except under the most extreme weather conditions. In such cases, triple-glazing (storm sash over insulating glass) is recommended.

To complete the safeguards, indoor humidity levels should also be considered. Relatively high humidity levels are comfortable and healthy, but can increase the possibility of condensation. Help in determining humidity levels which would prevent window condensation in homes in different geographic areas is offered in a handy new booklet, "How to Solve the Condensation Problem." It's available free from Ponderosa Pine Woodwork, Dept. P, 39 South LaSalle Street, Chicago, Illinois 60603.

Combine storage

A garage workshop and garden tool storage area can be combined, without ousting cars to the weather, if tools, shelves and closets are carefully placed around the walls.

Shelves of varying widths of western pine or fir can be hung directly on the walls. Strips of wood nailed across the studs allow storage of lumber or long-handled tools between the studs.

Workbenches and storage closets for small tools and garden supplies also can be spaced around the walls. Narrower units should be placed where car doors need room to open.

Faust introduces bill

Ombudsman proposed

A troubleshooter to cut red tape in the State Department of Education and keep an eye open for possible department abuses are just two features in a Senate bill introduced (Feb. 2) in the legislature by Sen. William Faust (D-Westland).

The Faust legislation would create the Office of State Education Ombudsman within the department of education to listen to citizen grievances, investigate complaints and simply see that the bureaucratic machinery runs smoothly, effectively and in the right direction.

"An ombudsman knowledgeable in the field of education and its inner workings would provide a vital service to the people of Michigan through proper guidance and assistance in problem solving and getting answers to questions," Faust said.

"Like most agencies in our state government, we unknowingly have become so large, complex and specialized that it is easy to see how unwitting citizens become victims of a maze of paperwork and bureaucratic doubletalk. "The office of ombudsman can solve many citizen problems by getting through to the right people for solutions, explaining department rules and regulations and providing positive answers to questions.

"In addition," said Faust, "the ombudsman would serve as an overseer to check on the actions of the department relative to education and assist in preventing the abuse of power in a bureaucratic complex."

The proposed measure states that the newly-created office would be under the leadership of a director appointed by the governor for a term of four years and with sufficient appropriated funds to employ clerical and technological assistance.

The duties of the ombudsman office as outlined in the bill include:

-Investigate any administrative act concerning public education which may be contrary to law; or which may be unreasonable, unfair, inefficient, wasteful or performed in a rude or insolent manner; or based on inadequate preparation and investigation.

-Investigate all complaints of waste of public funds for lack of needed innovation.

-Continue evaluation of research and agency action in all areas affecting public education in the state.

A Photography Project Seminar will be held at the Wayne County 4-H Fairgrounds near Belleville at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 26. The meeting will be held in the Donut Building.

This seminar is for everyone who is involved, or would like to become involved, in the photography 4-H project. There will be photographs for viewing, a talk by a junior leader, one by an adult project leader and one by Robert Campbell, county photography advisor, who will speak on "What has to happen to get food pictures."

There will be a question and answer period in which the audience can ask any questions they might have about picture taking. One question often asked, "Why doesn't my flash work all the time?" will be among those attempted to be answered.

To assure a worthwhile session, the first 50 people who arrive will be given a free roll of 126 color film.

Army has openings in Ranger program

Sgt. George V. Chatton Jr., local Army representative, has announced that the Army now has a limited number of openings for those men who can meet the high enlistment standards of the Ranger Enlistment Option.

This option is designed to give applicants the opportunity to develop military prowess and leadership qualities and to serve in one of the elite Ranger companies of the 57th Infantry Regiment, better known as "Merrill's Marauders."

Following the basic combat training and advanced individual training in infantry, the applicant will go to Fort Benning, Ga. for three weeks of airborne training which qualifies him as a parachutist.

After that, he will receive his Ranger Training, which includes experience in mountaineering techniques, combat operations and jungle training. During the entire course, the student has the opportunity to assume leadership positions in simulated, combat tactical operations.

Students study foreign folk songs

The fourth, fifth and sixth grade students of both the Sumpter and Elwell elementary schools have been participating in a special project for their music teacher, Mrs. Melissa Costello, school Principal William Chizmar announced.

The students have been studying folk songs of foreign lands and the different musical instruments used in each.

The drums used in most of these countries are improvised from paper, cardboard, plastic bags, or most anything found in the home. Maracas are usually made of hollowed coconut shells and then decorated.

The students were asked to construct drums and decorate them.

Mrs. Costello gave the students suggestions and counselling as to the types and sizes of drums they were to construct. The construction of the drums, however, was done by the students.

According to Mrs. Costello, the students who participated in the lesson will gain added experience in both the concepts of music appreciation and cultural appreciation.

New high recorded in '71 in VA home loan guarantee

A 14-year high in the number of GI home loans guaranteed was recorded in 1971.

Donald E. Johnson,

administrator of veterans affairs, said 284,000 home loans okayed by the Veterans Administration in 1971 exceeded the 1970 total of 167,000 by 70 per cent and represented the best year since 1957.

In Michigan, R.M. FitzGerald, director of the VA regional office in Detroit, said 8,802 home loans were approved for Michigan veterans in 1971. This compared with 5,245 approved loans in 1970.

The 1971 gain was attributed by Johnson to three factors:

A great improvement in the general availability of mortgage money for home building and buying.

—The first full year of operation under the Veterans Housing Act of 1970 signed by the President on Oct. 23, 1970.

The law restored eligibility for loans to veterans of World War II and the Korean Conflict, eliminated the one-half per cent loan funding fee previously required by post-Korean veterans, and made other changes providing greater flexibility in the loan program.

—The first reductions in history in the maximum interest rate set for GI home loans. The administration lowered the interest rate from 8½ per cent to 8.0 per cent on Dec. 2, 1970; from 8.0 per cent to 7.5 per cent effective Jan. 13, 1971, and then down to the present 7.0 per cent rate on Feb. 18, 1971.

The VA head said big gains also were registered in other facets of the GI home loan program in 1971.

Snowmobilers galore turn out for HVCA races

The weather was great for both sides this weekend as the Huron Valley Conservation Association held its fourth annual snowmobile races at Ford Lake in Ypsilanti. The snowmobilers had all the snow they wanted, and the spectators had some unseasonably warm weather to make the viewing a little more comfortable than usual.

According to Jack Begin, race chairman, about 3,200 spectators turned out to cheer their favorite snowmobilers on to victory — 2,000 on Saturday and 1,200 on Sunday. About 220 more persons participated in the 56 races held over the two-day period.

Mayor Hyle J. Carmichael of Romulus did it again as he reigned victorious over the Mayors and Supervisors Race on Sunday, one of the races' most prominent features. Carmichael, who won last year also, beat out Sumpter Township Supervisor Elmer Parraghi and Van Buren Supervisor G. Elton Gollwitzer.

D. Sterkan of 21954 Morley, Dearborn, left the races one snowmobile richer after he won the snowmobile raffle conducted by the HCVA. Four other prizes were awarded in the raffle, with Gene Kieler of 23888 Haggerty, Belleville, winning the second prize bow and arrow set.

HE'S OFF!—The snow flying off behind him, this snowmobiler eyes the finish line and the crowd of spectators as he participates in the Huron Valley Conservation Association's fourth annual snowmobile races held this past weekend. This scene was repeated several hundred times during the two-day contest as more than 200 snowmobiles from all over the state participated.

AND AWAY THEY GO—For the young at heart who enjoy the winter months, there's nothing worth looking forward to more than the first snow, when it's time to bring out the snowmobile and let loose. And of course there's nothing better than to participate with other snowmobile enthusiasts in a race.

testing your own vehicle and maneuvering skill against another's. The Huron Valley Conservation Association's fourth annual snowmobile races turned out to be a great success and more than 3,600 persons watched 36 races over the two-day period.

Enterprise-Roman photos by Dean Lyons

DANDY VANTAGE POINT—These kids know just where to see the action as they find their way to the top of a tree overlooking the HVCA's snowmobile races Saturday. They were part of the 3,200 spectators who braved the winter weather to watch the event. The kids had a lot to see from their special vantage point — 36 races were held Saturday and 20 more on Sunday.

LET'S GO, FELLERS!—If you can't participate, at least you can cheer on your favorite snowmobiler, as these spectators are finding out. It turned out to be a great day for the viewers, since the freezing temperatures gave way to some unseasonably warm weather Saturday.

MECHANICAL TROUBLE?—Some unlucky snowmobiler apparently is having his racing days cruelly cut short. With more than 200 winter enthusiasts taking part in the races, it would be pretty optimistic to expect no mechanical troubles, as this hapless fellow found out.

up to the starting point in order to get a quick start in the one of 56 races run this past weekend.
